

MUSSOLINI goes the whole way. The rights of both labor and capital are abolished. The state is transferred to the "state," which, in Italy, means Mussolini. Everything, henceforward, shall be the state's business—the work, the business, the pleasures and the morality of the people. Owners of industrial properties shall run them in whatever way the "state"—that is, Mussolini—thinks best. If they do not, the "state" will take them over and do it itself. Workers shall do likewise. There shall be no strikes or lockouts. Every worker must belong to the union—not the union of his choice, but the fascist union, organized for him by the "state"—and every employer must likewise belong to the syndicate of his craft. They must bargain collectively, and Mussolini will see to it that they make the right bargains. Neither has any "rights," but it is in the interest of the state that they be given advantages, of profits and of wages. So the syndicalist state will operate, with no private rights to anything, but with duties enforced on all.

THE shocking thing is that there will be little indignation, and much approval of this policy in American comment. There was a time when any assault on liberty, anywhere in the world, aroused our crusading anger. To us, liberty was the most sacred thing in the world, and the "oppressed of every nation" had our sympathy and our hospitable welcome. Now our standards have changed. We worship efficiency. Mussolini's government will "work." It will do the job. Tested by "results," it is a success. And "results" are what we test it by. If a regime produces prosperity, order and industrial progress, we imagine that it is the whole question. Our ancestors thought liberty worth seeking, though it involved going into the wilderness and sacrificing all these things. The standard by which we approve or disapprove Mussolini is a mirror of ourselves.

ONE of the mysteries of the alleged forged documents stolen from the American embassy in Mexico is the statement that they included plans for the invasion of Mexico. Nobody has denied that such documents were found, or claimed that these particular ones were forged. So there is much question why America should thus plot war on a neighbor.

The real question, if there really were such documents, ought to be, not why they exist, but why they exist, but why anybody was foolish enough to send them to the Mexican embassy. That there are such documents in the War Department may be taken for granted. There may even be plans for the invasion of Canada, or for the naval defense of our coasts in case of a surprise attack by the British navy. It is the business of military strategists to work out hypothetical solutions to hypothetical problems, regardless of the political probability. To study the technical problem does not indicate any expectation of having to meet it. It might not be impossible to hire a spy to steal for us plans of the British navy to blockade our coasts. That does not mean that it is ever going to be done.

TEMPERATURE three times hotter than the sun can now be produced in laboratories. The heat lasts, to be sure only a millionth of a second, but that is long enough for the modern scientist. He can photograph the flash, and, by comparing its spectrum with that of photographs of the stars, have a standard of comparison. The explosion of a tiny wire, an inch long and not much thicker than a hair, can give us information of the state of a giant sun quadrillions of miles away.

What is the "use" of it all. We can do nothing with either the wire or the distant sun. There will be as much to eat and to wear whether we know about these things or remain ignorant of them. Why care?

THE cow might better ask these questions. A flower is of less use to a cow than a tuft of grass, and a pasture than a landscape. Nothing is of use at all unless it is eatable, to a cow. If we have the same standard, the same conclusion follows. We can use more things, but the definition of usefulness remains the same. It is whatever we can eat, or wear, or otherwise personally consume. That is the criterion of usefulness, and of common sense. Curiously, some of this "useless" information turns out to be utilizable, even by this super-cow standard. Some of the most promising prospects of new mechanical forces come from investigations of matter in conditions common in the sun and stars, but nowhere reproduced on earth. The pure "theoretical" knowledge of the nature of matter derived from these studies has as a by-product such things already as radio and its relatives. Its next consequences may be an engine which will make power almost infinitesimally cheap. Then we can use it to make more things to eat and to wear, and to carry us about or save us trouble. That will make it "useful."

It is after all, also useful to know the heavens, which declared the glory of God, and the firmament which showeth His handiwork?

Flood Waters Begin Sullen Retreat

SLIGHT DROP REPORTED IN MISSISSIPPI

Scores of Farmers Moving Back to Homes in Eagerness to Do New Planting CONGESTION RELIEVED Believe Lowering of River Assurance of No Further Damage in Upper Area

(By United Press) MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 26.—The Mississippi river has started to retreat from the hundreds of square miles of territory in the northern valley engulfed by floods last week.

Slightly lower stages were reported today by government engineers at Memphis and practically all river points north of here.

As yet the drop in the river is almost imperceptible, but it gives assurance against further devastation in the upper regions of the flood district.

Already scores of farmers and their families who fled before the onrush of the waters in Kentucky and Tennessee are moving back in their anxiety to repair their property and get crops planted as quickly as possible, advised to relief headquarters here said.

Improved conditions were reported from all of the refugee camps in northern flood territory, where congestion is being relieved by the start of the homeward movement.

REFUGEES CONTINUE TO POUR IN VICKSBURG VICKSBURG, Miss., April 26.—The stream of flood refugees from the Mississippi river delta region continued pouring into Vicksburg in endless procession today.

Additional territory is being inundated by the rise of the river to the south of here. It is believed that the actual crest of the flood has now passed Vicksburg.

South of Natchez, the river is rising at an alarming rate, according to reports to engineers working with the Red Cross relief organization here.

HUNDREDS of motor boats patrolled the new flood danger districts, removing inhabitants to safety of refuge camps. Large numbers were taken to towns south of Vicksburg that are safely out of the area threatened with inundation.

GEM THIEF ESCAPES AFTER MAKING HAUL

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—A lone bandit, who held up and robbed A. Jeddis, a diamond broker, of San Francisco, of gems valued at $50,000, had made good his escape today and police admitted were without a clue.

Jeddis and Thomas Virgin were knocked unconscious by the bandit, who staged the robbery late yesterday afternoon in a downtown office building.

Jeddis, with the diamonds in two wallets, had just left the office of George Schenck, diamond dealer, when the bandit appeared on a stairway and struck the importer down.

He escaped through crowded streets.

MISSISSIPPI FLOOD RELIEF

Residents of the southern half of Orange county opened their hearts and purses this morning and contributed a total of $374 toward relief of the 100,000 persons who are homeless and without means in the flood stricken area of the lower Mississippi valley.

The response is in answer to the plea of the Red Cross. The southern half of Orange county has been given a quota of $1100 to raise and officers of the local chapter of the Red Cross say it will be raised and to that end a meeting is being held this afternoon.

Immediate relief is necessary. With thousands homeless and suffering already prevalent, pestilence is just in the offing and if financial relief is to be of any benefit it must be dispatched at once. President Coolidge has appealed to the more fortunate of America to come to the aid of those in distress. The Red Cross is asking for $5,000,000. This is to be used to provide food, clothing and shelter for the victims of the raging waters of the Mighty Mississippi.

The hospitality committee of the Eboli club served tea yesterday afternoon, following the meeting of the club. The tea was free, but those partaking were told of terrible conditions in the south and asked to contribute what they could. The saucers on the tables yielded $40 when they were taken up. Mrs. B. H. Sharpless contributed $10 more, making a total of $50, which was sent to The Register this morning. Other contributions ranging from $1 to $100 were received and the total at 11 o'clock this morning was $374.

Donations may be left with The Register, Mrs. Carrie Leebick, secretary of the local chapter of the Red Cross, in the courthouse, Harry L. Hanson, in the First National bank, W. S. Lienberger, secretary of the Tustin Chamber of Commerce, in the First National bank in Tustin, and Mrs. C. C. Violet, Garden Grove.

ONE MORE BATTLE LOOKED FOR BY STATE SENATORS

Fight Over Water Problem May Break Monotony Of Final Week

(By United Press) SACRAMENTO, April 26.—The California state legislature, now in the final week of its 1927 session, is pinning its only hopes of breaking the monotony of the last week upon a potential water fight.

Lethargy has descended upon the capitol. Summer weather, arriving several weeks ahead of time, is having its effect. Legislators, sprawled in their chairs, are lulled into drowsiness by the droning of the reading clerk.

Most of them would rather go home, but they must carry on until the routine business, such as county government, salary increases and other routine matters is disposed with.

However, with the Crittenden constitutional amendment proposing a new doctrine of water rights and the Williams resolution, demanding water reparations from Los Angeles to the farmers of Owens valley, before the house, the scene looked forward to at least one good battle of words before that body adjourns.

The matter of increasing superior judges' salaries has been held up by order of the administration, until some necessary alterations can be made. As the state, through the Reindollar bill is committed to a definite amount it must contribute to these salaries in each county, the governor wants to be certain the increases are adequate and necessary before they are given final adoption.

One of the important water measures, the bill by Assemblyman H. E. Dillinger, of Placerville, which reserves to each county 15 per cent of all water originating in that county, was given final adoption by the upper house yesterday, and is now before the governor for signature.

On the assembly side, the outstanding measures are the Breed gasoline tax increase and highway fund allocation measures. These are administration bills and, it is expected, will be adopted with little opposition.

The proposal by Senator J. J. Crowley, of San Francisco, to regulate beauty parlors and hairdressers, was adopted by the assembly and sent to the governor.

PRESIDENT IN DEFENSE OF U. S. POLICY

Political Observers Regard Address at United Press Banquet Very Important TELLS OF CONDITIONS

Coolidge Pleads for Fair American Press; Scores Criticism of Newspapers

EDITOR'S NOTE: The complete text of the address delivered by President Coolidge, last night, at the United Press anniversary banquet, may be found on page 6 of The Register.

(By United Press) NEW YORK, April 26.—President Coolidge's speech at the 20th anniversary dinner of the United Press associations here last night, in which he defended his administration's policy abroad and presented his view of conditions in Mexico, Nicaragua and China, was regarded by political observers today as one of his most important and far reaching pronouncements of recent months.

The president, addressing an audience of 1000, made up in large part of newspaper executives from coast to coast, pleaded for a fair American press and criticized newspapers which he said attempt to inflame opinion against foreign nations and also those which unjustly criticize the administration for defending American lives and property in foreign lands.

The president, Mrs. Coolidge and their party arrived in New York at 6 p. m., went at once to the Hotel Biltmore, where the banquet was held, and left New York for Washington at 11:25 p. m.

Addresses in Broadcast The chief executive addressed an international gathering, as his speech was broadcast over two hook-ups in this country and by short wave length abroad, where simultaneous United Press banquets were being held in many countries. Anniversary dinners were held in London, Honolulu and in South America.

Mr. Coolidge paid tribute to the United Press associations, whose growth, he said, was typical of the tremendous expansion in the gathering and distribution of news in recent years.

"The gathering and distribution of news," he said, "have long ceased to be a local and individual occupation. They have become identified with great organizations, having their representatives in all parts of the country and their publications in every important center. This service could only be performed by mutual exchange of the most inclusive nature. How rapid and complete has been the growth of these organizations is exemplified by the United Press, which is now celebrating its twentieth anniversary. In that short space of time it has spread far and wide over North and South America and become an instrument of both national and international publicity."

President Coolidge's statement on the foreign situation drew immediate response today from the press, both in America and abroad. Many newspapers in widely separated parts of the world also took occasion to congratulate the United Press associations on the anniversary.

Sees Amicable Adjustment After pointing out the difficulty of arbitrating with Mexico a dispute in which both sides felt basic principles, not subject to debate, were at stake, Mr. Coolidge said Mexican Ambassador Tellez had recently assured him that Mexico does not desire to confiscate American property through her alien land and oil laws. He expressed confidence that an amicable adjustment could be reached. He explained the need of protecting lives and property in Nicaragua.

TO INVESTIGATE FIRE WHICH DESTROYED VESSEL'S CARGO

(By United Press) SAN PEDRO, Calif., April 26.—An investigation will be opened here today into a fire aboard the S. S. Sagadahok, damaged to the extent of $100,000 by a blaze which started a week ago and was smoldering in the hatches when the freighter docked here last night.

All fire apparatus in Los Angeles harbor was called out to fight the fire, which destroyed a general cargo of furniture, varnish, veneer and musical instruments in the hatches.

A call was sent out from the Sagadahok, a 6223-ton freighter of the Argonaut line, last Tuesday and two destroyers from San Diego answered the call 1500 miles south of this port.

It was thought to have been extinguished, but when the ship docked again burst into flames.

TWO ENTRANTS IN NEW YORK TO PARIS HOP DIE IN CRASH

Lt. Com. Noel Davis and Lt. Stanton W. Wooster, navy aviators, who were killed this morning when the giant biplane, the "American Legion," in which they shortly were to have attempted a non-stop flight from New York to Paris, crashed into the edge of a marsh near Messick, Va. The biplane, also shown above, was demolished.

2 ABOARD AMERICAN SHIP WOUNDED BY CHINESE FIRE

One of Men Injured by Bullet From Kiangyin Fort Expected to Die

(By United Press) SHANGHAI, April 26.—Two persons aboard the U. S. S. Penguin lay wounded today when Chinese had fired on the vessel from the Kiangyin forts. One of the men was believed to have been fatally injured.

The Kiangyin forts loosed rifle, machine gun and artillery fire yesterday against the American vessel, which replied to the attack with gunfire.

Severe artillery bombardment was exchanged yesterday and last night between Pukow, on the north bank of the Yangtze river, and Nanking, on the opposite shore. Pukow is held by northern Chinese troops and Nanking by troops of the moderate Nationalist leader, Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek. Five Nationalist gunboats participated in the shelling of Pukow. Both cities were without lights throughout the night. The number of casualties was not known here today.

The U. S. transport Gold Star arrived here today from Manila with 12 airplanes and 75 members of the air service aboard.

Miss Mary I. Craig, American missionary, captured several days ago by Chinese bandits, was reported today to have been released. The report came from Yunnan. There were no details of the release nor was there confirmation of the report.

(Miss Craig is from Philadelphia.)

Indictments in 2 Counts The indictments voted by the county grand jury against Miss Mackaye and Dr. Walter Sullivan, Hollywood physician, were in two counts. They were as follows:

1. Being accessories after the fact, in that they had knowledge of the crime and concealed it from proper authorities.
2. Compounding a felony by accepting $500 from Kelly after they knew of the crime and using the money to conceal it.

Mrs. A. R. Cedarbloom, of Forest Hills, N. Y., mother of the slain actor, arrived here and visited Miss Mackaye.

Mrs. Cedarbloom refused to discuss the nature of their conference, other than to say that it had been in regard to funeral arrangements. Miss Mackaye again was reported on the verge of a complete collapse following the departure of Mrs. Cedarbloom.

ENTRANTS IN PARIS FLIGHT LOSE LIVES

Commander Noel Davis and Lieutenant S. H. Wooster Trial Spin Victims

MACHINE DEMOLISHED

Craft Dives Into Edge of Marsh Several Minutes After Soaring Into Air

(By United Press) NORFOLK, Va., April 26.—Lt. Com. Noel Davis and Lt. Stanton H. Wooster were killed today when the giant biplane, the "American Legion," with which they were shortly to attempt a non-stop flight from New York to Paris, crashed into the edge of a marsh near Messick, Va., one mile from Langley field.

The plane had just taken off from Langley field with a 13,000 pound load, on what was planned as its final test flight. It went into a nose dive and crashed into five inches of water buried itself in the mud. Commander Davis and Lieutenant Wooster received injuries which caused their immediate deaths. Little information in regard to the accident was being released at Langley field.

The "American Legion" plane is a total loss, it is said. The biplane was a triple motored Keystone Pathfinder. It was equipped with a number of 1500-gallon gasoline tanks and was reputed to have greater speed than the average plane of its size.

Entered in Paris Hop Lieutenant Commander Davis was one of the two official entries for the $25,000 Raymond Orteig New York-to-Paris flight prize. Other aviators have been preparing for the flight, but only Davis and Charles Lindbergh, airmail pilot, had satisfied the 60-day entry notice requirement, according to National Aeronautical association announcement today.

Wooster was unmarried. Davis, 36, was a native of Salt Lake City and a resident of Washington. He held medals for distinguished war time service. Wooster, 32, a native of Connecticut, was to have accompanied him as a mechanic and alternate pilot on the flight, which they hoped to start from New York about May 1.

Today's crash was the second fatal accident in as many years in attempts to make the great 2400-mile hop and one of many minor mishaps to planes and aviators seeking to complete this journey—enough to give the attempt a "jinx" reputation, which, however, has daunted none of the air explorers so far.

Capt. Rene Fonck, French ace, met disaster in taking off from Long Island a year ago, when his giant plane exploded and burned to death two of the party. Fonck escaped.

Com. Richard E. Byrd, U. S. N., north pole flyer, crashed his Fokker plane a week ago Saturday near New York, while A. H. G. Fokker, the craft's designer, was at the controls. The plane was damaged and a delay of two or three weeks and possibly an indefinite postponement was seen for this attempt.

Maj. C. J. Brown, army air corps, witness of the accident today, sent the following account to the war department:

"The 'American Legion' was taking off for a full load test and it took off on the long runway at Langley field to the north.

Rose Only 20 Feet "It ran along the ground for a long distance and finally got into the air, but apparently did not rise more than about 20 feet from the ground and, apparently figuring that they would not be able to clear the trees, made a right-hand turn to the east.

"The turn being nearly completed, the plane sank and crashed into the marsh on the north side of Back river. The left wing of the plane was completely demolished and the fuselage was buried in the mud up to the pilot's cockpit."

The official message of navy and war departments announcing the deaths said:

"The chief of air corps reports that the American Legion's transatlantic airplane of Com. Noel Davis, naval reserve, crashed about 8 o'clock this morning in the shallow water near Messick, Va., a few miles northeast of Langley field.

"Com. Noel Davis and Lt. Stanton H. Wooster, naval aviators, (the latter on duty in the bureau of aeronautics, navy department) who were in the ship at the time, were both killed.

"The crash, which resulted from a forced landing, is reported to have almost completely destroyed the ship.

"The 'American Legion' was ragua, which he declared to be the function of U. S. marines in that country, and emphasized the moral responsibility of the United States toward the governments of Central American nations.

In China, American forces are devoted solely to protecting American lives and property, he said.
"The recent period has brought America into a new position in the world," the president continued. "We shall have to bear the inevitable criticisms and try to discharge the inevitable obligations which arise from this condition."
Not Spirit of America
Military aggrandizement, he said, is "not the spirit of the American people."
"In our international intercourse, we must hold ourselves up to high standards of justice and equity," Mr. Coolidge continued. "Our attitude toward all nations is one of friendship and good will. Toward those who are yet struggling to improve the conditions of their people and to achieve a larger liberty it is especially one of forbearance."
"The policy that our nation is trying to promote throughout the world is one of peace and good will. It is based on a better understanding through justice and fair dealing."

HAILED AS OUTSTANDING DECLARATION ON POLICY
WASHINGTON, April 26.—President Coolidge's speech at the United Press dinner in New York was hailed here in most quarters today as an outstanding declaration on foreign policy, characterized by its optimistic and conciliatory tone.
The president's statement on Mexico and China was generally interpreted as a denial of charges of American imperialism.
It was considered significant that, despite the administration's grave concern over alleged challenge to American rights in Mexico and China, there was no threat or belligerent warning in the president's speech.
The president indicated he had accepted the Mexican ambassador's recent pledge that Mexico will not confiscate American property without compensation. While expressing doubt that either government would find the land-oil dispute arbitrable, Mr. Coolidge was convinced "amicable adjustment" was probable through negotiation.
President and Mrs. Coolidge, with their special party, which attended the 20th anniversary dinner of the United Press associations, returned here at 7:30 a. m. today and went immediately to the temporary White House in Dupont Circle.
The president retired early last night in New York before the train left at 1 a. m.
The trip was uneventful.

Pola Negri Finds Her Greatest Love

CHERBOURG, France, April 26.—Pola Negri loved her first husband, Count Domske, she adored Rudolph Valentino and she was very fond of Charlie Chaplin, but only now has Pola found her greatest love.
She said so herself today in an exclusive interview with the United Press upon her arrival here aboard the Cunard liner Aquitania.
Prince Serge Mdivani, a Georgian, was with Pola when she told the story. He approved it in all respects and described himself as a democratic sort of fellow, who was coming back to the United States after he and Pola are married in May to be plain Mister Mdivani and to sell oil.

night on the same day, Mrs. Snyder sent word that she wanted to talk with him again.
"I held in my hand, as she came up a slip of paper bearing the name and address of Gray," McLaughlin continued.
"I read it off."
"Mrs. Snyder had been crying. Now she looked up and said, 'That's the party. Has he confessed?'"
"She said she had talked over her marital troubles with Gray and that they had decided to get rid of her husband."
The night before the murder, McLaughlin testified, Mrs. Snyder stole out to meet Gray while her husband was asleep. McLaughlin continued:
"Gray said, 'Why not now?' Mrs. Snyder told me, and started toward Snyder's bedroom."
McLaughlin then quoted Mrs. Snyder as having said "If you go I'll go with you."

RIVERSIDE—Riverside will have the largest and most expensive theater in the citrus belt and one of the finest in all California when a $400,000 structure to be erected by R. C. Hunt, manager of the Rubidoux theater, and the Universal Chain Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., is opened in October. Construction is to start in May. Location of the theater will be announced soon. It will be close in on Main street. Plans for the structure now are being drawn. The Universal Chain Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., is a subsidiary of the Universal Pictures corporation, of which Carl Laemmle is president. Hunt will control half the interest and will be manager, with the Universal people holding the other half interest.

GIRARD—According to a survey just completed, the three-mile Girard area today has a population 3.7 greater than was shown by the census of 1920 for the same district. The 1920 figures were 1123 as compared with a total of 4180 today. The annual increase for three years following 1920 was 10 per cent. In 1923 the increase is shown to have been 15 per cent. The next year showed 30 per cent. The 12 months of 1925 were responsible for a 36 per cent increase and 1926 topped the record with a gain of 51 per cent. The increase at Owensmouth during the seven-year period was from 699 to 3145.

WESTMORELAND — Imperial valley's first ripe cantaloupe for the present season was being exhibited here today by Judge F. T. Cook on the Court's ranch near this city. It will be several days before melons will ripen in sufficient quantity to start express shipments. The melon crop this season is estimated to be in excess of 37,000 acres, which is 20 per cent higher than that of any previous season.

SAN BERNARDINO — Preparations to meet the heavy refrigerator car demands are seen in the number of cars now being received in the Santa Fe yards here during the past few days. Traffic officials claim that the movement of valencia oranges will increase steadily during the next 10 days and that the heavy shipping will begin during the middle of the coming month. With the prevailing ideal weather, extensive picking will be done at most orange groves and the packing house work will get under full operation before the close of May, it is predicted. The daily shipment of oranges averages at least 100 cars. Santa Fe traffic officials assert. The Union Pacific is reported to be hauling practically as many cars.

START DEFENSE OF COURT SUIT
IN CAR DEATH

The Pacific Electric railway company today started presenting its defense to a $26,083 damage suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. Otis Richards, of Santa Ana, on account of the death of their son, Glen, 19, one of three young people killed in a crossing wreck on West Seventeenth street, Santa Ana, May 7, 1925.

Attorneys Sharpless Walker and James L. Davis, representing the plaintiffs, rested their case shortly before noon today. Defense Attorneys Eugene Morris and Stanley Reinhart moved for a non-suit, but Judge H. G. Ames refused to grant it. The defense then started its case, after a short recess.

Testimony offered by the plaintiffs yesterday and today was intended to show that at the time a car driven by young Richards was struck by an electric car at the crossing, there was no light, bell or other warning signal at the crossing, and that no whistle was sounded by the car at any point within 1000 feet of the crossing. It was testified that the Richards car was traveling at a rate between 25 and 30 miles per hour and that its speed did not diminish at the crossing, showing that the occupants were unaware that a railroad was there; also that the electric car was traveling at a rate of 40 or 45 miles per hour and did not slacken speed.

Warm argument arose today when plaintiffs' counsel called Mrs. H. H.
Lewis, a resident of the locality, to the witness stand to testify that, from numerous tests she had observed, the lights of a car standing on the incline on one side of the track would blind the driver of a car approaching from the other side, because the light rays would be thrown into the air instead of being projected along the ground. The attempt brought an objection from defense counsel and the evidence was rejected by the court, but not until Walker had explained to the court and, incidentally to the listening jury his purpose of showing that Richards, as driver of the automobile, could not see the railroad track, the cross-arm that stood by a waiting car on the other side of the tracks, or the lights of the approaching electric car, and was therefore not guilty of contributory negligence for failing to stop at the crossing. Any showing of contributory negligence, it was stated, would prevent an award of damages.

The case might reach the jury late this afternoon, it was announced.

Delinquent Tax Total Will Be
'Same As Usual'

Although no exact estimate can be made at this time, the delinquent tax list for 1926-27 "will be of about customary size," according to County Tax Collector J. C.
Lamb who completed collections of the final tax installment yesterday.

Taxes that remained unpaid at 5 p. m., yesterday, went on the delinquent list.

Lamb has a heavy mail to sort before it can be determined just how many have paid their taxes and who has not. The examination of accumulated mail will probably last for several days, he said. It contains probably 10,000 tax payments at least, it is believed.

Behind the "electric eyes" a dramatic is mounted. It turns a perforated disc. By the arrangement of the perforations and the disc's speed, the subject on which the "eyes" are gazing is swept constantly by beams of reddish electric light, moving across the field of vision of the "electric eyes"
in fixed jumps or bands and then repeating the process—all at dizzy speed.

A film of potassium inside the
every change in the shading when the beams strike the picture-subject. It records constantly the changing reflections. Thus its function as an eye is performed.

Electric impulses Set Up
The recording consists of setting up electric impulses of varying strength. These impulse variations number 20,000 to the second.

The current from the cells—a continuous picture dissolved into an electric flow—is led from the
amplifying tubes. Feeble impulses are amplified into powerful ones.
Then they go to the telephone wires or to the radio antenna to be flung far across space.

At the receiving station, the sending process is reversed. The electrical impulses are fed into a "neon" tube, which glows with reddish hue. The brightness of its glow is regulated from instant to instant by the strength of the impulses it is receiving.

Another perforated disc, revolving at exactly the same speed as the one in the sending station, transforms the varying glow into beams or bands. These sweep across a glass screen 2 by 2 1/2 inches in size—moving from top to bottom and also, in tiny jumps, from side to side, and repeating.
Television thus recreates its picture.

Eighteen times a second the "electric eyes" of the sending station "see" all of the subject in front of them. The beams from the revolving disc cover the field of vision again and again at that speed.

Reception Synchronized
The synchronized receiving apparatus reproduces at identically the same speed.

On the small receiving screen, there is a slight flicker. But the light beams move fast enough, back and forth, back and forth,
to deceive the human eye.

In fact, the picture on the screen is being painted and erased by electricity magic brush 18 times a second. To the human eye it is there continuously.

The television mechanism is of limited performance so far. The "electric eyes" at one end can "see"

Ball of $250 was made by J.

He spent Sunday night in jail here, pending an arraignment.

FORE 'WET' EMPLOYES WASHINGTON, April 6.—Any employee of the Levithan or any other shipping board vessel who is directly or indirectly responsible for the transportation or concealment of liquor aboard will be fired.
The warning comes from President Dalton of the Merchant Fleet corporation.

The shock of which event Mr.
Stratton had never recovered.
His 83 years, the greater part spent as a lawyer and judge of note, in Kansas, were crowned with honor and the added blessings of a wife and three daughters all of whom survive. Interment was made in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, from the Little Church of the Flowers.

LIMITS OF VISION REMOVED

ington talking over a telephone (inset). President Walter S. Gifford, of the A. T. & T., listened to him in New York—and saw him as he spoke. Television brought right into the little box in front of Gifford a moving picture of him, that is, Dr. Herbert E. Ives, television engineer, at the right.

Television Brought to Preliminary Perfection
By Scientists

NEW YORK, April 26.—Human eyesight's range lifted electrically to 200 miles—to 2000 miles—across oceans and continents—that is television, brought by American Telephone and Telegraph company scientists to what might be called "preliminary perfection."

How far the electrical extension of eyesight will go by means of the mechanism just placed in actual operation here, no one yet knows.
At one end of the line between two given points, "electric eyes" see persons and things placed in front of them—still or in motion.
At the other end, what these "electric eyes" see is reproduced in miniature on a small screen much as a movie film reproduces motion pictures in a theater.

Both the seeing and the reproduction are continuous.

Current of "Electrons" Either telephone wires or radio can be used as the means of transmission.

Billions of "electrons"—infinitesimal units of electric life—form a flowing current through the telephone wires or through the ether. On this current, eyesight travels—the human being of whom this winged eyesight becomes a part and parcel sitting spellbound the while.

The "electric eyes" of the television apparatus are photo-electric cells, which resemble radio set tubes of huge size. These cells are mounted in a cabinet, before which is the scene to be transmitted. In the first formal demonstration, this scene was Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, sitting in a chair and holding a telephone, over which he was talking.

Behind the "electric eyes" a dramatic is mounted. It turns a perforated disc. By the arrangement of the perforations and the disc's speed, the subject on which the "eyes" are gazing is swept constantly by beams of reddish
electric light, moving across the field of vision of the "electric eyes"
in fixed jumps or bands and then

speed.

WARN OF NEW SPEED LIMIT
IN ANGEL CITY

Motorists driving in Los Angeles in excess of 28 miles an hour and motorists crossing intersections without observing the speed limit of 15 miles an hour will be arrested, according to an announcement by Chief of Police Davis of that city, in connection with reorganization of the motorcycle squad of the metropolis.

Announcing the substitution of 50 motorcycles by 20 automobiles, with officers working the cars in two shifts of eight hours each, the chief gave public warning that the motor officers had been given direct instruction to arrest every motorist driving in excess of 28 miles an hour. Pointing out that the established limit is eight miles above the legal speed, and that the driver exceeding the legal limit by eight miles an hour cannot help but know the fact, the chief declared "there will be no excuse" and that "every violator will be arrested when detected by an officer."

"We are determined to pull down the speed in Los Angeles, and speed limits at intersections must be observed," commented the chief.
Statistics reveal that in Sunday accidents in Los Angeles in the past five months 43 persons were killed outright, 25 others died later from injuries and that 148 persons were seriously injured.

Strict enforcement of the new order is to be made in the hope of reducing the number of accidents.

Roy White, prominent Huntington Beach oil man, was severely burned about the body when a gas tank at the Barneson and Macklin oil well, Huntington Beach, exploded, last night.

Fire under the tank had gone out and White attempted to light the burners. The explosion followed. He was taken to his home,

FACTIONS GRID FOR BATTLE ON SCHOOL HEADS

With the stage set for tonight's first regular meeting of the Santa Ana board of education when the re-appointment of City Superintendent J. A. Cranston for another four-year term comes up for a vote by the newly elected trustees, no declarations were forthcoming from the factions which, it is alleged, are circulating a petition seeking the removal of the city superintendent and Principal D. K. Hammond of the high school. It was rumored, however, that those behind the movement are determined to present the petition before action is taken on Cranston's re-election.

At the same time it was reported that forces favorable to the retention of Cranston and Hammond are lining up their strength for counter representations. Among these, inquiries revealed, are many parents of high school and junior college students.

A number of messages, assuring him of support and co-operation, were received this morning by Cranston. Some of his supporters offered to go before the board at tonight's meeting to give expression to their feelings in the matter.

These offers of personal support were declined by Cranston, who, while expressing appreciation, declared that he did not desire demonstrations in his favor and that the matter of his re-election was one for the trustees to dispose of without undue annoyance and embarrassment.

COMPANY F. RATED HIGH IN INSPECTION

A rating of "very satisfactory" was received by Company F Santa Ana National Guard troop, in the annual federal inspection, held recently, according to word received by Captain Donald L. Winans. The report was made to the headquarters of the ninth corps at San Francisco by Col. H. A. Hannigan, D. O. L. who was inspecting officer.

Although the Santa Ana guardsmen have always won a satisfactory rating since their organization in 1915, this is the first time the company has been given special recognition.

Because of army custom, the "very satisfactory" rating is withheld except for meritorious distinction, Captain Winans said. For that reason, he said, the results of the inspection this year was especially prized.

"Salesmanship is getting the customer's viewpoint and getting the customer to accept yours."

Dr. Ivey was introduced by Bruce Switzer. Following his speech, it was announced that Dr. Ivey would hold an institute on salesmanship in Santa Ana in May.

$1000 GRANTED BOY FOR HURTS AFTER CAR HIT

Howard Johnson, Olinda youth whose leg was broken in an accident that occurred while he was "hooking a ride" on an automobile driven by W. L. Campbell, was awarded $1000 damages by Superior Judge E. J. Marks late yesterday.

The judgment for damages was allowed, not against Campbell, but against A. R. Sutton, who was driving a coupe that collided with Campbell's machine.

Young Johnson was perched on the fender of Campbell's car when it brushed wheels with Sutton's machine, which had swung wide on a curve. The court held that Sutton was responsible for the accident.

Johnson and another lad had asked Campbell for a ride home from school. They sat on the fenders, one on each side, the interior of the car being filled with tools. The accident took place in front of Johnson's home, as the boy was about to get off the car.

Attorneys F. H. Jacobs, of Brea, and O. A. Jacobs and A. P. Nelson, of Santa Ana, represented Johnson in the case. Attorneys A. W. Rutan and George Moore, Los Angeles, were counsel for Campbell. Sutton retained Attorney J. D. F. Jennings, Los Angeles.

Nothing Takes the Place of the Watch Chain. It serves a double purpose. The watch chain, one of the earliest and most useful articles of jewelry, combines utility with beauty. In the present styles of Valdemar and Dickens, a knife, pencil or similar article can be carried on the opposite end. It also affords an opportunity for carrying a charm, locket, or other useful and attractive article of jewelry. It provides the quickest and most secure of all methods of attaching a watch to the person. There are no springs, catches or other devices to become out of order and permit the accidental dropping of the watch. Years of endorsement by well-dressed men have proven the watch chain, which adds positively to the necessity of the vest chain.

Los Angeles Baritone Gives Delightful Ebel Program

While various reports, especially that of the recent Spring Market and Flower show, held the attention of Ebel members yesterday afternoon at the clubhouse auditorium, the presentation by the program committee of John Claire Monteith, baritone, was of outstanding importance, and gave an afternoon of unalloyed pleasure to the large crowd present.

Presentation of an afternoon of vocal music was in keeping with plans of Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth and her program committee, to offer variety through the elc season, and then yesterday's artist added still more variety by offering numbers of widely differing themes.

His voice delighted the audience. Smooth, rich, flexible, and under excellent control, its qualities especially in the middle and lower registers, were such as to make its possessor, a really admirable artist. Coupled with the artistic background, given by a trained pianist, Earl Stone, the result was complete pleasure for those gathered to hear the recital.

Monteith's "Serenata" was a fitting introduction to the afternoon to follow. It was followed by an old Irish song, "The Nine Penny Fiddle," replete with the visions and fairy lore of the Celt, and explained briefly but charmingly, by the singer, "O kom mit mir in die Frühlingsnacht" by Van der Stucken was interesting not only from a musical standpoint, but as an example of Mr. Monteith's linguistic ability already displayed in "Serenata" and later shown in Italian as well in the dramatically rendered Prologue from "Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo.

Delicately charming was "I Heard You Go by" (Wood) explained by the singer as a reply to "I Passed Your Window" and "rarely successful, although replies to well-known songs are usually of little value."

The second group was unusually lovely and offered such varied varying features as an old French Carol, the beautiful "Ich Liebe Dich" (Mildenberg) a poetic "Tindoo Lullaby" by Ware and "Chinese Nursery Rhyme" (Bainbridge-Crist) curiously enough, founded on the same thought as our famous "Ladybug, Ladybug, Fly Away Home."

These numbers, with their quaintly humorous encores—a musical setting for the famous limerick of the "Young Lady of the Tiger" and "The Tired Man," were followed by a piano number by Mr. Stone who proved as brilliant an interpreter of the masters as he was an accompanist. His playing of Rubenstein's "Staccato Etude" showed power and brilliancy. As an encore number, he played "Turkish March" by Beethoven, for its marked, but lovely contrast to the first selection.

It was in the next song group that the Pagliacci number was featured and with it was originally programmed Grieg's "Water Lily" but for some reason the singer chose to substitute another Grieg number, equally lovely.

At his final appearance on the program, Mr. Monteith swayed his audience with Romy's "O Lovely Night," the stirring rhythms of "Smugglers' Song" by Kernochan; "Trade Winds" by Keel, and the strange minor melodies of "Water Boy," a negro convict song.

The final song, given when the audience showed an evident reluctance to leave the auditorium, even for the pleasures of a social chat over the tea cups, was expressive of a whimsical humor and sent his hearers on their way with a smile, for with all the dramatic seriousness of which he is so thoroughly capable, Mr. Monteith announced and sang an Irish air, "Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday."

And it was just that—and nothing more, the singer standing with serious aspect until the audience laughed and laughed at the little musical joke on itself.

After yesterday's program, Santa Ana Ebel members are going to watch with much interest, the concert and teaching career of John Claire Monteith on the Pacific coast. He has had professional engagements here at various times, but at the beginning of the present season, willingly forsaking his New York studio to establish one in Los Angeles.

During the brief business session of Ebel society preceding the program, attention was called to the state convention to be held in Sacramento, May 3 to 7. Mrs. S. W. Stanley, president, will attend, while other delegates named were Mesdames F. L. Tople, G. Flagge, Good Adams and C. F. Crose. Alternates were Mesdames J. E. Gowen, E. L. Morrison, W. L. Delmilling, W. H. De Wolfe and J. R. Medlock.

At the tea hour with the hospitality committee as hostesses, a silver offering was taken for the victims of the floods in the south, and over fifty dollars collected.

UNUSUAL SMARTNESS SEEMS FEATURE OF SPRING STYLES

HERE ARE SHOWN TWO YOUNG NEW YORK GIRLS, THE MISSES JUNE HESS AND GRACE TINGUE, IN SPRING-LIKE COSTUMES. THE FORMER WEARS A PRINTED PUSSYWILLOW IN FOUR TONES OF BLUE WHILE THE LATTER HAS CHOSEN A PRINTED FABRIC COAT IN BEIGE AND BLUE GEOMETRICAL DESIGN.

BY BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, April 26.—Looking over fashion's domain, one thought and only one crystallizes out of the atmosphere: "There is no such thing as THE smart costume." Any number of them fairly shout "style" at you.

Watching the daily fashion parade that saunters up Park Avenue—now that warm days are here and daisies are blooming in window boxes—it is plain that chic comes this season via novelty and complicated cut, together with an effect of simplicity.

Restraint

Of course restraint has always been handmaiden to good taste. But given the simple silhouette, the general idea of either a two-piece costume or a one-piece with the waist not too pinched and sleeves long or not at all, and fashion experts all her ingenuity to create variety in detail.

Yokes and yoke effects either on shoulders or hips are extremely chic. I noticed Cora Legg chose a cream pointed lace yoke and fitted cuffs to match to mark as smart the blue crepe satin frock she wore to the last meeting of the debutante committee for the Butterfly Ball.

Triangular Buttons

Faustina Monroe's green crepe frock, at one of these meetings, conceived chic in terms of tiny triangular bone buttons of autumn coloring edging the collar and cuffs, running down the front and even embroidering flowers on the skirt pocket.

Minta Duffree Arbuckle was the cynosure of envious gazes at a Ritz tea when she wore a soft black felt hat, brimless, with a tall crown that had three large creamy-pink roses cascading down to her shoulder like trailing arabus, from the right side.

Lydia Dammun wore a tomato red flat crepe daytime dress with matching red oval wooden beads and was extremely stunning in the setting.

I saw June Hess and Grace Tingue at the Drake attending a meeting for the Butterfly Ball and both looked as fresh as spring flowers in their printed costumes.

June Hess's printed pussywillow in four tones of blue tied itself smartly both at the V neckline and at the waistline. All of its fullness came in a pleated front inserted in panel that had a real oriental up-in-the-front hitch to it. Flash georgette formed the tiny vestee.

Fifty Blues

Grace Tingue wore one of the new printed fabric coats—in beige tone with blue for its geometric design. Blues are still swaying fashion as much as ever. They range in approximately fifty different tones—all of them somewhat comely, suggesting purple, pink, gray or some other color.

Accessories have all the variety of costumes. I noticed several women eyeing Mrs. David Schwab's latest dinner ring which she wore to Sherry's last week. Oblong diamonds form the band. Everyone, it seems, must have a t least two, or preferably more wedding rings.

A wedding ring for each costume may be the next slogan.

Leather Inserts

I noticed that Mrs. T. M. Robertson is welcoming spring days in a marine blue soft woolen coat that is entirely novel in the way contrasting blue leather inserts appear lengthwise from neck to cuffs. Smart blue pumps, blue purse and hat make her an outstanding example of how blue the smart woman is this spring!

Another style that pleases me as it gains favor is for gray-haired women to accentuate their soft loveliness by wearing gray. I think Jenny started the rage by introducing a gray-haired model with an intriguing bob, wearing just the right shade of gray satin evening gown, trimmed with fringe and rhinestones. An utterly pleasing devotee of this mode was Mrs. William Henry Barnum wearing a crepe gown to tea at the Ritz which exactly matched in shade her charming swirling bob.

Ebel Travelers

When Mrs. Charles Carothers entertained members of Ebel's third travel section on a recent afternoon in her home on Wellington avenue, all had the pleasure of hearing an excellent paper on the Hudson Bay country prepared by Mrs. L. K. Strong.

In her article, Mrs. Strong gave a brief account of the life of Henrik Hudson and his four journeys into the district, ending with the one on which he entered the bay bearing his name, and lost his life in an attempt to discover a northwest passage.

For 50 years the country remained untouched, Mrs. Strong related, then the English started operations to secure the fur-bearing animals and were granted charters from the king. It was thus the Hudson's Bay company came into existence, building forts and homes in the wilderness of the new world. Later organization of the Northwest Fur company, and conflicts between the two until finally Hudson's Bay company absorbed the other, gave thrilling interest to the history of the bay country.

Among details related by Mrs. Strong was the trip of Alexander MacKenzie, discoverer of the river bearing his name, whose explorations finally led him to the Pacific coast.

"There is no limit to what has been written in story and song about the country and its settlers," declared the speaker as she told how finally the Hudson's Bay company possessions were taken over by Canada in 1870 although the name still remains.

The remainder of the afternoon was given over to a pleasant social hour for hostess and members.

Betrothal Is Revealed By Orange Blossoms At Bridge Party

Among the charming social affairs which have taken place at the Frank Klatt home, 201 East Washington avenue, one of the most delightful was the bridge luncheon at which the twin daughters of the home, the Misses Genevieve and Armelia Klatt, entertained Saturday, the surprise of the event coming with the announcement of the engagement of their foster sister, Miss Florence O. Badur, and John A. Laubacher of Oxnard.

The spacious rooms in the Klatt home had been transformed into a bower of beauty, where tulips, Spanish iris, anemones, stock, ranunculus and sweet peas in delicate pastel tints were artistically arranged in bowls and baskets, both above and below stairs.

A delicious two-course luncheon was served at one o'clock, one long table and several small ones being utilized. The tables were centered with crystal bowls of blossoms, and at each place was a beautiful flower out of which peeped a smiling girl's head. The blossoms were cleverly fashioned of organza in pastel tones and harmonized with the nut cups.

The climax of the menu, which followed as closely as possible the prevailing colors, came with the ice cream, which was moulded in basket form with nosegays of sweet peas. Two wee maidens, Jeannette Klatt, niece of the hostess and Theresa Le Gays, who assisted in serving, had the pleasure of imparting the news of the engagement of Miss Badur and Mr. Laubacher, told by a corsage of fresh orange blossoms, with the card attached and the date June 2, 1927. The happy bride-elect was showered with the congratulations of the guests, who were pleased to hear that the marriage will be solemnized in Santa Ana at St. Joseph's church.

When the tables had been denuded of their lovely luncheon fittings and prepared for the diversion of the afternoon, the guests found that the tallies bore lovely faces and were painted in the same dainty pastels.

Instead of awarding the prizes to those holding high and low scores, the hostesses gave them to those who sat in chairs marked with gold stars, and the two pretty cut-work towels and corsage bouquet were captured by Mrs. Carolyn Barnett, Miss Anna Oehlke and Miss Ruth Engdahl.

Miss Badur is a teacher in the public school at Oxnard and her fiancé is a prosperous rancher of the same place, where they will make their future home.

The guests who were privileged to enjoy the announcement event included Miss Gertrude Day, San Luis Obispo; Miss Dorothy Laubacher, sister of the groom-elect, Oxnard; Miss Esther Eber, Upland; Miss Esther Sawyer, Long Beach; Mrs. J. Ogden Markel, Ventura; Miss Angela Boedighelmer, Miss Stella Kucheloe, Los Angeles, the Misses Lenora and Lydia Kemman of Monrovia, the Misses Florence Dolg, Elizabeth Paine, Anne, Gretchen, Rose and Agnes Lieberman, Margaret and Teresa Halliley, Mary Banks, Margaret Young, Beatrice Reilly, Frances Hillman, Anna Oehlke, Helen and Clara Klatt, Mrs. Carl Klatt, Mrs. Carolyn Barnett and Mrs. Tina Roelands.

Long Beach Hosts Entertain at Inn

Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Morrison of Long Beach presided as hosts at a charmingly appointed luncheon given recently at St. Ann's Inn, with guests from Long Beach and Placentia.

Royal purple and gold gave a rich beauty to the table appointments, where clusters of Spanish iris and yellow candles emphasized the effect.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, were Mrs. C. K. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Robinson, Miss Kathryn Morrison, Miss Rene Smith, Miss Helen Rudge, W. K. Morrison, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morrison, Miss Genevieve and Robert Morrison, Placentia and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Andrews, Hollywood.

English history shows that when thievery was punishable by death, pickpockets plied their trade among the dense crowds watching the public execution of pickpockets.

Double Birthdays Are Pleasantly Observed At Bridge Party

When Mrs. Florence Hicks entertained a little group of congenial friends last night at her home on South Parton street, it was to honor two friends who have exactly the same birthday but who met quite recently for the first time. They were Mrs. Charles C. Oakes of Portland, Me., wife of a naval captain, and Mrs. Jacob Link of Peru, Ill., both of whom have been winter visitors in Santa Ana.

Many colorful sweet peas were used by the hostess to deck her home, and artistic clusters of Cecil Brunner buds were in readiness to present each honoree. The guests soon found their places around card tables for an evening of bridge, in which attractive prizes were awarded Mrs. Oakes scoring high, and Mrs. Link, second.

Late in the evening Mrs. Hicks served appetizing refreshments for which the small tables were attractively arranged.

Enjoying the evening with the hostess and the two birthday honorees, were Mrs. Theresa McMullen, Mrs. Anna Dill, Miss Adeline Link, Miss Berenice Dill, Miss Mary Oakes, Delwin Link, Frank Roberts of Lankershim, and Hugh Hicks, son of the hostess.

Young Hostesses Plan Evening of Bridge

Members and associates of the Girl's Friendly society of the Church of the Messiah were guests last night at the home of Miss Janet Briggs, 644 North Broadway, when Miss Briggs and Miss Louise Stephenson entertained at an evening of bridge.

Adding to the charm of the scene were the many beautiful bouquets of flowers from the Briggs' garden. When tallies were added at the end of the evening it was found that the associates of the organization had outplayed the members so that prizes went to Mrs. W. L. H. Benton and Dr. Mabel Vance Tremaine.

Refreshments were served by the two hostesses, assisted by Mrs. George Briggs.

Guests included Mrs. W. L. H. Benton, Dr. Mabel Vance Tremaine, Mrs. Ruth Reiley, Miss Jean Eatsberry, Miss Kate Benton, Miss Pauline Reiley, Miss Bernice Boyd, Miss Beatrice Boyd, Miss Margaret Bondley, Miss Margaret Cianfoni, Miss Mary Pomeroy, Miss Lou Pomeroy, Miss Juliet Taylor, Miss Olive Adell Granger, Miss May Horsemann, Miss Dorothy Jardine, and Miss Ruth Ann Walker.

The next meeting of the society will be at the home of Miss Ruth Ann Walker, 202 East Chestnut avenue, when Mrs. Miss Walker and Miss Enid Twist will be hostesses. At this time Mrs. A. L. Alexander who is in charge of the reference department of the city library, and who has spent many years abroad will talk on girls of other lands.

College Society Dines Here

Members of the Palmer Literary society of Whittier college to the number of forty, assembled last night in the Rose Arbor tea room on North Main street, having come to Santa Ana to hold one of their banquets and programs.

Arrangements for the affair had been made by Miss Ruth Pearson of the junior class of the college, the juniors of the society, complimenting the seniors at the event. Palmer colors of purple and gold were used in all appointments. Purple lilies were the flowers, and the young people dined to the soft light of countless yellow candles.

Parchment place cards were in diploma form, tied with ribbons and sealed with the society's seal. In addition to the name of the individual diner, each scroll contained the evening's program of talks and toasts.

PRESIDENT OUTLINES FOREIGN POLICY OF U. S. IN SPEECH AT ANNUAL UNITED PRESS DINNER

NEW YORK, April 26.—A U. S. policy of guardianship for American lives, property and justice will be followed in Mexico, China and Nicaragua, President Coolidge told editors at a dinner here last night commemorating the 20th anniversary of the United Press associations.

Mr. Coolidge's address, in full, was as follows:

"The gathering and the distribution of news have long since ceased to be a local and individual occupation. They have become identified with great organizations having their representatives in all parts of the country and their publications in every important center. This service could only be performed by a mutual exchange of the most inclusive nature. How rapid and complete has been the growth of these organizations is exemplified by the United Press, which is now celebrating its twentieth anniversary. In that short space of time it has spread far and wide over North and South America and become an instrument of both national and international publicity.

"This growth and power of the press carries with it great obligations. It is axiomatic that a free press can exist only in a free country. One of the first efforts of all kinds of absolutism is to control the press and the schools as the sources of information and education of the people. Where the press is free, as it is in our country under the guarantees of the national and state constitutions, it has a reciprocal duty of its own to perform toward the administration of the government, giving true reports to the people of the actions of public officials. To do otherwise would be to establish a petty tyranny of its own. In America the general sources of information are so numerous and on the whole so correct that any publication which constantly misrepresents very soon becomes marked as unreliable and loses its influence both for good and for harm.

Represents Character
"It is natural that the press should represent the character of the government under which it lives and of the people which it serves. I have come to have a profound regard for the American press because it represents America. In the accuracy of its reports, the intelligence of its comments, and the freedom of its actions, I know of no other country where it is so true. There is a deeper realization of these conditions on the part of those who are responsible for the conduct of our press which should be reflected on their part in a more intense and genuine Americanism. If you lived under some jurisdictions your news would be garbled and unfair, your editorial comments would be distorted and prejudiced, your conduct would be cramped and limited. Because America is what it is, you are what you are. Your own independent and exalted position fully demonstrates that this country is worthy at all times of your service and your support. Whenever any section of our press turns on America and on American institutions, and assumes a foreign attitude, every informed person knows that it has fallen from the high estate which is its common heritage, and becoming no longer worthy of regard is destined to defeat and failure. No American can profit by selling his own country for foreign favor.

"The policy that our nation is trying to promote throughout the world is one of peace and good will based on a better understanding through justice and fair dealing. It is perfectly apparent that there are three main elements on which we rely to advance this cause. First is the national government as it comes into contact through its duly constituted officers with the governments and people of other countries. I doubt if the belief exists in any informed quarter that this is a belligerent government desirous of oppression or bent on conquest. Our whole history and tradition, the moderation of our military establishment and the general attitude of our people, would altogether disprove any such assumption.

Trade and Commerce
"Another very important consideration is that of trade and commercial relations. While a certain number of foreign people come to this country to transact business without intending to make this their permanent home, their number is negligible and any difficulty arising from their presence here is almost unknown. They are practically every advantage and every protection that is afforded to our own citizens. Of their conduct on the whole we have had little to blame and much to praise. In the past foreign interests have had investments in this country running into several billions of dollars. Being made at a time when we had insufficient capital to develop our own resources, such investments were most helpful in building our railroads, opening our mines, and supporting our manufacturing. As we have come into the possession of surplus capital we have shown an increasing disposition to extend this same kind of service to other countries. Our people have gone abroad with their investments, their technical skill and commercial ability, to assist in opening up undeveloped countries.

"This is the natural play of the forces of civilization. It is the result of natural and commendable enterprises which carries with it the same kind of benefits and advantages to the other people which we ourselves formerly received from abroad. It is the method by which the more prosperous and improved portions of the earth help to bring these advantages to the less fortunately circumstanced. This policy is distinctly one that is in harmony with the law of service. In principle it is the method of which stronger communities minister to weaker communities. But these operations must be carried out with justice and humanity. They must not be permitted to sink to the level of mere exploitation. They do not justify a seizure, which is virtually by force, of the far as it lawfully could, its support to the side of freedom. "These are some of the standards which it has been the policy of our government to support among its people at home and in its dealings with other nations. While it is well-established international law that we have no right to interfere in the purely domestic affairs of other nations, our dealings with them are based on the principle of self-respect. Our government has certain rights over and certain duties toward our own citizens and their property, wherever they may be located. The person and property of a citizen are a part of the general domain of the nation, even when abroad. On the other hand, there is a distinct and binding obligation on the part of self-respecting governments to afford protection to the persons and property of their citizens, wherever they may be. This is both because it has an interest in them and because it has an obligation toward them. It would seem to be perfectly obvious that if it is wrong to murder and pillage within the confines of the United States, it is equally wrong outside our borders. The fundamental law of justice is universal in their application. These rights go with the citizen. Wherever he goes these duties of our government must follow him.

"It is all right to say that when our citizens enter a foreign country they should do so with the understanding that they are to abide by the laws of that country. They should, and they do, and our government would be the last to interfere in the just application of the law of the land to our citizens. But this is only a partial statement of the case. The admission of our citizens within their territory is a voluntary act of foreign governments. It is a tacit invitation. When we permit foreigners to come here, and when other countries admit our citizens, we know and they know that such aliens come and go not only under the rights and duties imposed by domestic law, but also under the rights and duties imposed by international law. There is nothing unfair, nothing imperialistic, in this principle. It has been universally adopted and recognized as right and just and is the only reasonable method by which enlightened humanity can safeguard friendly intercourse among the citizens of different nations. This policy has been adopted in furtherance of the humanitarian desire for a universal reign of law.

Two Dangerous Attitudes
"There are two attitudes that the press may take which distinctly endanger our friendly relations. If they do not bring us to the verge of conflict, they are injurious to our trade. One is the constant criticism and misrepresentation of foreign people. Human nature provides sufficient distrust of all that is alien, so that there is no need of any artificial supply. The world is in far more danger from nations not trusting each other enough than from their trusting each other too much. A press which is given over to a narrow and bigoted nationalism, accompanied by misrepresentations of other countries, not only misleads and misleads the people at home but produces the reaction of a ranking bitterness abroad. An almost equally harmful attitude is the other extreme. It usually consists of malicious and misleading partisan attacks on the conduct of our own government. Its efforts to defend American rights when they are threatened or invaded in foreign countries. Our government has usually been too timid, rather than too active, in supporting the lawful rights of its citizens abroad. That has been so long our established policy that it is rather difficult to conceive it assuming a truculent and arrogant attitude. But when it is proceeding with moderation, attempting by peaceful negotiation to adjust differences, defending the rights of its citizens, and maintaining national dignity, great care is necessary to give the public the exact facts and avoid the appearance of seeming to support the position of foreign governments. When such an attitude becomes known in the offending country, it is widely quoted there and, when all other arguments have been answered, becomes their chief reliance for maintaining their position. It not only furnishes ammunition for our adversaries, but attacks our own forces in the rear. An American press which has all the privileges which it enjoys under our institutions, and which derives its support from the progress and well-being of our people, ought to be first of all thoroughly American.

"Progress and civilization have always depended upon effort and sacrifice. We have set up our institutions, established our ideals and adopted our social standards. We believe that they are consistent with right and justice. We live under a system that guarantees the sanctity of life and liberty through public order and protects the rights of private property under the principle of due process of law. We have thrown every possible safeguard around the individual in order to protect him from the invasion of his rights even by the government itself. It is peculiarly an American doctrine, now usually accepted in principle if not adopted in practice by all civilized countries, that these are inalienable rights, that they ought to belong to all persons everywhere, and that it is the chief function of government to provide instrumentalities by which these rights can be secured and protected. We have adopted these ideas because we believe that they are of universal application and square with the eternal principles of right. But we may as well realize that they will not continue to prevail unless we are prepared constantly to put forth great efforts and make large sacrifices for their support.

Willing to Assist
"While we have not been willing to assume any general attitude of crusading toward other nations, and realizing that institutions can not be bestowed but must be adopted have left them for the most part secure in their right to work out their own destiny, yet we have always been willing to encourage and assist, in so far as we could in harmony with international law and custom, other people in securing for themselves the benefit of these principles and ideals. In that conflict between freedom and despotism, which is constantly recurring in one form or another, both among ourselves and among other people, it has always been the policy of this government to extend its sympathy and, in so vent the appearance of acquiescence we so notified Mexico prior to the passage of such laws. Never the less they were passed. We have made further protest against their being put into effect, as they are contrary to our understanding of the conference as a result of which we granted recognition. In the notes which have been received from the government of President Calles refuses to be bound by what we thought was the understanding arrived at with President Obregon. We closed the correspondence by notifying the Mexican government that we stood squarely on the understanding made with President Obregon and we expected it not to take any action that would deprive American citizens of their property or their property rights. "Agricultural lands have apparently been seized from time to time for which no compensation has yet been made. While there have been threats to seize oil property, no such seizures have lately been made, and suits are now pending in Mexican courts to restrain such seizures. Former decisions of their courts are relied on to support their suits. "Stripped of all technicalities and involved legal discussion, this is the main difference which our government has with the Mexican government. We do not question their right to take any property, provided they pay fair compensation. With their efforts to secure a division of great estates, so that more of their people may be landowners, we have every sympathy. We have been agreed that our government would accept the bonds of the Mexican government in payment for damages awarded by the commission for land taken for this purpose. Of course, we do not want any controversy with Mexico.

Sympathize With Mexico
"We feel every sympathy with her people in their distress and have every desire to assist them. That they welcome conditions under which life and property are secure is shown by the hundreds of thousands of them who are coming to the United States, where, through their industry, they thrive and prosper. Under these conditions small land holdings would develop in Mexico as they have developed here. Those of her citizens who preferred to seek employment in industry, like many of our own people, would have an abundant opportunity in their own country. Instead of desiring to pursue any aggression or to take part in any oppression, we are endeavoring through the most friendly offices to demonstrate to their government that their attitude in relation to property will not only result in the economic disadvantage of their own people, but by preventing the investment of outside capital so necessary for their development, but will greatly impair their friendly relations with other interested nations.

Claims Against Mexico
"These principles are involved in some of the difficulties that we have recently been trying to work out with foreign nations, especially with Mexico. We have had claims against that country running over a long series of years, growing out of the death of many of our citizens and the loss of their property, running into hundreds of millions of dollars. A very considerable portion of these cases has been due to revolutionary activities and other forms of public violence. Public order has never been entirely complete in that country. But lately our difficulties have been increased by the enactment of laws by the government itself, which we feel threaten the virtual confiscation of the property of our citizens, even where their holdings are under titles which have been established for scores of years.

"In 1917 Mexico adopted a constitution. In its relation to the protection of acquired property it provided ample security. Under its terms many of our people acquired holdings both through individual and corporate ownership. During the more than 30 years of President Diaz we were especially encouraged to make investments, to promote all kinds of development of the natural resources, transportation, and industries. After he was driven from office by revolution much disorder existed, with presidents following one another in rapid succession.

"In 1917 a new constitution was adopted with provisions affecting agricultural, mining, and oil lands, which we thought threatened the holdings of our nationals with confiscation. Their constitution is not self-enforcing, but requires the promulgation of laws to put it into effect. While this was in process of being brought about a government was established which we did not recognize. In 1920 General Obregon was chosen president and sought recognition. In negotiations for that purpose it was repeatedly pointed out that we feared that the new constitution, although one of its provisions expressly prohibited the enactment of retroactive laws, might be interpreted as retroactive in its effect upon the holdings of real estate which our people had secured prior to its adoption. We sought assurances from the Mexican government that such was not the case. In order to prevent misunderstanding we sent two commissioners to Mexico City in 1923 to confer upon this subject, and also on the question of our claims, with two Mexican commissioners.

Kept Written Records
"Charles Beecher Warren and John Barton Payne represented our government. They had a series of conferences and kept written records of their proceedings, in which are set out the recommendations for the appointment of two claims commissions and the understanding that the constitution of 1917 was not to be given retroactive or confiscatory application. These records were duly signed and attested by the commissioners and were submitted to the president of Mexico and the president of the United States for their mutual approval, which was given. It was solely because of our understanding secured in this formal way that our property rights would be respected, that recognition of the government of President Obregon was granted on September 3, 1923.

"During the winter of 1924 revolutionary activities started in Mexico which it seems probable would have succeeded in displacing President Obregon had not our government furnished him with arms and ammunition largely on credit and given him the advantage of our moral support. Our President Calles came into power and the Mexican congress proposed laws and regulations which we deemed threatened confiscation of American property. To prevent the appearance of acquiescence we so notified Mexico prior to the passage of such laws. Never the less they were passed. We have made further protest against their being put into effect, as they are contrary to our understanding of the conference as a result of which we granted recognition. In the notes which have been received from the government of President Calles refuses to be bound by what we thought was the understanding arrived at with President Obregon. We closed the correspondence by notifying the Mexican government that we stood squarely on the understanding made with President Obregon and we expected it not to take any action that would deprive American citizens of their property or their property rights. "Agricultural lands have apparently been seized from time to time for which no compensation has yet been made. While there have been threats to seize oil property, no such seizures have lately been made, and suits are now pending in Mexican courts to restrain such seizures. Former decisions of their courts are relied on to support their suits. "Stripped of all technicalities and involved legal discussion, this is the main difference which our government has with the Mexican government. We do not question their right to take any property, provided they pay fair compensation. With their efforts to secure a division of great estates, so that more of their people may be landowners, we have every sympathy. We have been agreed that our government would accept the bonds of the Mexican government in payment for damages awarded by the commission for land taken for this purpose. Of course, we do not want any controversy with Mexico.

Protection Big Problem
"Another important problem in our foreign intercourse relates to China. That country is undergoing a revolutionary convulsion. It is broken up into several separate parts, each claiming to represent a government, none of which we have recognized. Our main difficulty here is the protection of the life and property of our citizens. We have many missionaries there and some commercial establishments. We have nothing in the way of concessions. We have never occupied any territory. Our citizens are being concentrated in ports where we can protect them and remove them. It is solely for this purpose that our warships and marines are in that territory. "While this process was going on the unfortunate incident arose at Nanking. One of our citizens was murdered, another was wounded, our consulate was violated, and when the house in which our people had taken refuge was surrounded and they were actually under fire it became necessary for one of our ships, and one of the British ships in the harbor, to lay down a barrage, to drive away the soldiers and the mob who were making the attack and to enable our citizens to reach a place of safety on our ships in the river. We presented with the other powers who had suffered like attacks identical notes of protest, to which a reply has been made, which although conciliatory in tone and to a certain degree responsive, leaves the final disposition of the issue a matter for further consideration by our government.

Weeks ago we say this situation developing and sent a suggestion to the contending factions that they exclude the foreign quarters of the city of Shanghai from the area of military operations. This they failed to do, making the dispatch of our forces necessary. In a public statement issued by our secretary of state on the 27th of January we indicated that we were ready to negotiate a treaty giving China a complete tariff autonomy and to negotiate the release of extraterritorial rights as soon as China is prepared to give protection to American citizens and their property. "The friendship of America for China has become proverbial. We feel for her the deepest sympathy in these times of her distress. We have no disposition to do otherwise than to assist and encourage every legitimate aspiration for freedom, for unity, for the cultivation of a national spirit, and the realization of a republican form of government. In the turmoil and strife of the present time we realize fully that forces may be let loose temporarily beyond their power to control, which may do injury to American nationals. It is to guard against that eventuality that our forces are in Chinese waters and to do what China itself would do if peace prevailed. We do not wish to pursue any course of aggression against the Chinese people. We are there to prevent aggression against our people by any of their disorderly elements. Ultimately the turmoil will quiet down and some form of authority will emerge, which will no doubt be prepared to make adequate settlement for any wrongs we have suffered. We shall of course maintain the dignity of our government and treat upon proper respect being extended to our authority. But our actions will at all times be those of a friend solicitous for the well-being of the Chinese people. "The recent period has brought that country. Meantime, it is reported that the government forces have been apparently successful in driving the revolutionists from the field. Secure Canal Rights "In addition to the private property of our citizens, which is employed in the lumber and agricultural operations, our government has secured the right to construct a canal and establish a naval base, for which it paid $3,000,000. Contrary to the general impression, there are no oil properties in this country. Nevertheless, I have seen cartoons that pictured it as filled with oil derricks. Our country consumes vast quantities of oil and gasoline in its use of automobiles, engines and oil burning furnaces. If these products are to be kept within a reasonable price, which is very important to a great body of our citizens, our people who go abroad to develop new fields and to increase the supply ought to have the encouragement and support of our government. We are not making war on Nicaragua any more than a policeman on the street is making war on passers-by. We are there to protect our citizens from the presence of our being destroyed by war and to lend every encouragement we can to the restoration of peace. While the destruction of life and property has been serious enough, had ability that does not attach to other forces it would undoubtedly have been much worse.

"Toward the governments of countries which we have recognized this side of the Panama canal we feel a moral responsibility that does not attach to other nations. We wish them to feel that our recognition is of real value to them and that they can count on such support as we can lawfully give when they are beset with difficulties. We have undertaken to discourage revolutions within that area and to encourage settlement of political differences by the peaceful method of elections. This policy is bound to meet with some discouragements, but it is our hope and belief that ultimately it will prevail. This territory is rich in natural resources and under orderly governments is capable of a development that will give to its inhabitants all the advantages of modern civilization. It is a curious circumstance that some of those who have been willing to have us take mandates over far-off countries in Asia, where we have no interest that is shown by the hundreds of thousands of them who are coming to the United States, where, through their industry, they thrive and prosper. Under these conditions small land holdings would develop in Mexico as they have developed here. Those of her citizens who preferred to seek employment in industry, like many of our own people, would have an abundant opportunity in their own country. Instead of desiring to pursue any aggression or to take part in any oppression, we are endeavoring through the most friendly offices to demonstrate to their government that their attitude in relation to property will not only result in the economic disadvantage of their own people, but by preventing the investment of outside capital so necessary for their development, but will greatly impair their friendly relations with other interested nations.

"It is a cardinal principle of law that private property should not be taken without fair compensation. This principle is declared in our national constitution and in those of all our states. I know of no written constitution that does not contain a similar provision. Under the constitution of 1917, and by-laws and regulations for carrying it into effect, we feel that Mexico is threatening to disregard this great elementary principle by undertaking a retroactive application of their constitution to property of our citizens acquired before their constitution was adopted.

"The senate recently passed a resolution supporting the protection of American life and property and suggesting resort to arbitration. We have at present two commissions of arbitration with Mexico, and the principle of arbitration has always been strongly advocated by our government. Every body favors arbitration when the question at issue is arbitrable. Under the present circumstances I can see great difficulties in formulating a question which the two governments would agree to submit to such a tribunal. The principle that property is not to be confiscated and the duty of our government to protect it are so well established that it is doubtful if questioned. Very likely Mexico would feel that the right to make a constitution and pass laws is a privilege of her sovereignty which she could not permit to be brought into question. "It has therefore seemed that we are more likely to secure an adjustment through negotiation. I am glad to report that the Mexican ambassador has recently declared to me that she does not intend to confiscate our property, that she has shown diligence in capturing and punishing those who have murdered our citizens, and expressed the wish, which we so thoroughly entertain, of keeping in cordial and friendly relations. With a strong sentiment of nature, which I am convinced, animates the people of both countries, it will surely be possible to reach an amicable adjustment. Our two peoples ought to conduct themselves that there will never be any interference with our ancient ties of friendship. "Our relationship to Nicaragua I have set out in detail in a message to the congress. For a dozen years we kept a force of marines in that country at the earnest solicitation of its government. During this time the people were peaceful, orderly and prosperous, and their national debt was greatly reduced. Almost at once after I withdrew the marines revolution was started. Finally a president was designated by the congress which appeared to us and to other Central American countries to have a constitutional title and we therefore recognized him. As the disorders continued, on his representation that he was unable to protect American lives and property, I sent a force of marines for that purpose. Their presence has undoubtedly prevented the larger towns from being pillaged and confined the fighting for the most part to uninhabited areas. We have sold arms and ammunition, as we did in the case of Mexico, to the Nicaraguan government. The revolutionaries have received arms and ammunition from some source in Mexico. With information which would better enable us to deal with the situation, I have sent Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, to America into a new position in the world. We shall have to bear the inevitable criticism and try to discharge the inevitable obligations which arise from this condition. Because some others have pursued that course, it may be feared that we shall embark upon a program of military aggrandizement. Such, however, is not the spirit of the American people. If, even where our national interests and the protection of the rights of our citizens are involved, we attempt to assist in composing difficulties and supporting international law, we must expect to be charged with imperialistic motives.

To Support of Humanity
"In our international intercourse we must hold ourselves up to high standards of justice and equity. We should be slow to take offense and quick to grant redress. The world knows that the whole genius of America always calls it to the support of the universal rights of humanity. "The civilization of the world has been accomplished by the acceptance and general observance of definite rules of human conduct. Our duty demands that it be clearly understood at home and abroad that we are unwavering in our faith in those principles. Those who violate them can not hope for our approbation. Our attitude toward all nations is one of friendship and good will. Toward those who are yet struggling to improve the conditions of their people and achieve a larger liberty, it is especially one of forbearance. We support the demands of right and justice, but we are equally solicitous to observe the requirements of mercy and compassion. In the attempt of your government to meet these great obligations by which alone an enlightened civilized society can be maintained, a united America must constantly respond with service and sacrifice."

Q. How does the car owner benefit by the United States Rubber Company's operation of its own Cotton Mills?

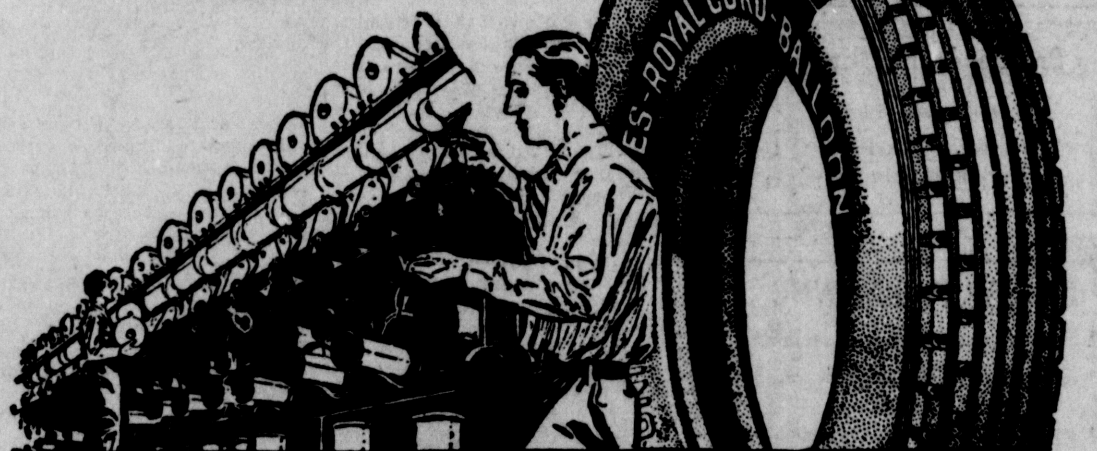

A. Cotton Cord is the backbone of every tire. So no tire can be better than the cord used in it—and the quality of United States Tires benefits greatly by these cord mills.

They were established ten years ago solely for the purpose of producing an adequate supply of uniformly high grade tire cord, made strictly according to the specifications laid down for United States Tires.

The establishment and operation of these mills, like every other United States Rubber Company development, leads directly to longer tire life and greater value for the car owner's dollar.

ART GOEBEL RECEIVES MESSAGE

"High, high, high up in the clouds," is where aviator Art Goebel flew when he dropped a "word of welcome" on Capt. Roald Amundsen's hotel when this famous arctic aviator and explorer visited Southern California recently. Goebel flew under the colors of the Hollywood Aero Club and used the Associated Oil Company's "Press" plane, the Miss Ethyl 1st, for the stunt. Here, Miss Joan Crawford and Dorothy Sebastian, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stars, present Goebel with the welcoming message just before the take-off.

Fullerton Near Flood Fund Goal

FULLERTON, April 26.—Fullerton's response to the aid plea for flood aid in the Mississippi valley is proving very liberal, and it is expected that Fullerton will go over the top in the drive for funds. Since Saturday morning, when the drive began, $281.28 has been subscribed of the $500 quota, according to Fred Fuller, treasurer of the Fullerton chapter of the Red Cross. A single contribution of $50 was made by a Fullerton citizen, and the Fullerton Baptist church swelled the fund with $171.24.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, April 26.—The Oceanview Parent-Teacher association met on Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium. The president, Mrs. Walter De Laverne, presided at the business session. It was decided to give a supper at the school on the evening of May 5. A tea is to be given soon by the P.-T. A. to raise funds. Mrs. Hetty Dowdy, sister of Mrs. Raymond Beem, arrived Monday from her Arizona home to visit with relatives here. Beginning Sunday evening the hour for the commencement of the Epworth league service at the Wintersburg Methodist church was set for 8:30 o'clock, instead of 7 o'clock.

The Henry Snasdell house was raised Thursday preparatory to putting in a new cement foundation. Ed Woods is putting in the foundation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huff and children were entertained as dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Huff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gallienne, at Huntington Beach, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Snasdell entertained at dinner in observance of the birthday anniversary of Alfred Wise, a friend from Costa Mesa.

Elmer Anderson, who is a truck driver for the Perkins Cement company, had a thumb broken and a wrist cracked when attempting to extricate his truck which had stalled. The wheel spun, catching the member, and inflicting the injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eby entertained at dinner recently Mr. and Mrs. George Zimmerman, of Rainville, Mont., who are wintering in Long Beach, and who leave next week upon their return home.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Eby and their guests were joined by Mr. Eby's brother, Howard Eby, and sister, Mrs. Ida Williams, and her three children, Cecil, Howard and Dorothy Williams, who are also Montana residents.

Mrs. H. Snasdell and children, Craig and Winifred, were dinner guests Thursday evening in Huntington Beach in the home of Mrs. J. J. Whitsett.

Mrs. Elmer Anderson left Thursday morning for San Francisco and Stockton to be absent several days. At Stockton Mrs. Anderson will be the guest of her mother.

W. S. Castle, who has been ill the past three months at his home east of this place, passed away at 1:15 o'clock Friday morning. Mr. Castle, who was 81 years of age, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah Jane Castle, and seven sons and one daughter. Mrs. Pearl Elliott, of this place, is a stepdaughter of the deceased. Two of Mr. Castle's sons were here from Colton at the time of his death and Friday morning left with the body for Colton, his former home where at 10 o'clock Saturday morning the funeral took place and Mr. Castle was laid to rest beside his first wife. Mr. Castle is a pioneer of this state, having been a resident of San Bernardino for many years. Five of the seven sons reside in Colton, the other two being residents of Kansas.

Mrs. Pearl Elliott received word Thursday from her sister, Mrs. Helen Wallace, of Washington, that she will return here as soon as soon as business interests, which it was necessary to see to following the recent death of her husband, Russell Wallace, were settled. Mr. Wallace's death, due to influenza and pneumonia, occurred at Shelton, Wn., shortly after the removal of the family there, and followed immediately the illness of his wife with the same disease.

Several children of the Jackson family were required to leave school this week as they were thought to be taking scarlet fever. The family is now under quarantine. There are eight children in the family.

RECTOR MAKES PLEA FOR J. A. CRANSTON

Editor Register:—I was interested a few days ago to read your editorial upon the question of the Santa Ana school situation and the circulating petition. One cannot but think that the persons drawing up the petition were incited by feelings other than the pure good and prosperity of the greatest system known in America today, to-wit: our glorious school organization.

If there is anything above another in California of which we are more justly proud, then, I venture to say, it is our system of education, making its way, as it constantly is, to great efficiency and perfection. Where, I ask, in any part of our state, do we find the system and question of education so proudly guarded as in Orange county, whether it be concerned with the inner question of knowledge or acquiring an education, or the outer system of environment and the producing of beautiful school buildings and surroundings of the most elevated character, supported by the will of the people and paid for by their taxes?

Given 30 Years' Service

The petitioners evidently are not prepared to concede to J. A. Cranston any part or credit for the most excellent position the city and suburban schools hold today. Yet here we have a man who has given nearly 30 years of the best of his life to our community in that most onerous situation known as the department of education. That is a faithful and long record to be so easily swept aside by a petition which says practically, "if we, the petitioners cannot 'rule' our school, we will 'ruin' the system root and branch," for we will so co-ordinate together that additional bonds for further development and improvement will not be voted.

Having myself held the position of chairman of a school board for many years, prior to coming here, and knowing that neither the board nor the teachers can possibly face the future without the utmost good will of the people, I am writing to your valuable paper, which I love for its straightforward fairness, to plead for toleration and not intimidation.

S. A. Position Envisable

Surely the present system and envisable position of the Santa Ana schools cannot have come into being through the "inability" of its superintendent and lack of leadership. The very thought is ridiculous.

Water always finds its own level, and no one who has met that very efficient, courtly and progressive present incumbent in the office of superintendent, would for one moment imagine that he has not always and will continue to rise with the increasing flood of population, and peculiarly difficult situation, of our fast growing community, and keep his head above water.

In such a changing position as the governors of our schools are constantly finding themselves, there must be countless problems to meet, problems that must, in many instances, first be solved by the superintendent, and that person is a "man" prone to make mistakes, as we all are. He carries, no doubt, as you and I do, an eraser on his pencil, because he makes mistakes. He is not a "god," a faultless being. Neither are we. Mr. Cranston is a man, a man of whom the great majority is proud. He is a wise and experienced leader and we need today, more than ever, all that he can bestow—otherwise:

Poetry Quoted

"Where shall we find the man to guide the schools, Like skillful mariner who knows The rocks, the shoals—and steers his ship with ease, Past dangers that are looming near and great, Or like an ambushed foe, in silence wait, Who holds his constant crew in duty bound, Nor spares himself to keep his vessel sound, But meets with equal mind unequal fate?"

"A leader such as this must be a man! Honest in purpose, pure in life and thought, Free from mere party rule; in danger's hour, Strong to put forth and furnish all he can For others' good; nor willing to be bought By any love of wealth, or praise, or power."

Hosts of our good citizens will agree with me that we have such a man in our present superintendent, and as "duties are ours and results are God's" let us have confidence in the present board of education and leave their hands free to choose him who shall be best fitted for the position, without intimidation by threat.

"Men whom the lust of office does not kill Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy."

American citizens everywhere are noted for their fairness and fearlessness in the cause of right and I honestly believe, in espousing this cause and calm deliberation and imploring those in position of authority to weigh well the consequence of relinquishing from office so trusted and tried and experienced a servant "of the people" who is one of us "of the people"; works for us "for the people" and is respected and loved, I believe "by the people," I am doing the right thing.

Reasonable Cause Demanded I am not unmindful of the divine right we citizens have, in using petition and referendum and to maintain our democracy we have a perfect freedom of speech, but that speech, I think, demands "reasonable cause" and as far as I can gather no reasonable cause has been cited.

We have been happily placed in past years and blessed with freedom from strife and sectarian feelings, and as one who loves America much, is intensely proud of our schools here and desires to see justice done to a faithful and true servant, I trust J. A. Cranston will be retained in his present position for we require:

Not only a creed, but an experience;

Not only a restraint, but an inspiration;

Not only an insurance for the next but a program for the present world.

Respectfully yours in the cause of justice and equality,

PERCY WISE CLARKSON,

Rector in charge of Orange County Missions.

FORMER TEACHER ASKS CRANSTON BE RETAINED

Editor Register: As an ex-teacher in Santa Ana schools and a keenly interested "listener-in" on this childish back-fence school superintendent prattle, I would like to state my candid opinion of J. A. Cranston, the present head of Santa Ana schools.

To me Mr. Cranston personifies everything desirable in a school superintendent, and as I speak from a teaching experience that extends over several years and in several eastern cities, I feel that what I here state is not just idle talk.

Those who really know Mr. Cranston and especially those who have taught under him, can honestly say that he is a progressive educator and not only fosters true progressiveness in his educational routine, but tolerates only that which is highest intellectually, morally and physically in his teachers.

As an honest liver himself and one who can well serve as a moral, intellectual and physical standard in any community, I only ask that Mr. Cranston be again chosen as superintendent of Santa Ana schools.

CHURCH WOMEN TO GATHER ALL DAY THURSDAY

Women of the missionary societies of the churches of Santa Ana today were looking forward to the fifteenth annual meeting of the Federated Missionary Societies of Santa Ana, to be held at the First Presbyterian church, Thursday, at 9:30 a. m., in anticipation of a day of keen pleasure in active discussions and in listening to a program arranged by the committee in charge.

The forenoon session will be featured by consideration of business matters of the organization and talks on local problems by Mrs. P. F. Schrock and the Rev. B. E. Garcia and an address by the Rev. Eugene Oerter, who is connected with the Moravian mission among the Cahuilla Indians. Mrs. Schrock will discuss Japanese work here and the Rev. Mr. Garcia will present some of the problems in the Mexican work here. "The Indian, Past, Present and Future," will be the subject of a discourse by the Rev. Mr. Oerter, who is associated with the Cahuilla Indians near San Bernardino.

On account of the intense interest at this time in the work in China, the afternoon will be given over largely to an address by the Rev. Albert Fulton. His subject will be, "China, Past and Present." Experiences in China also will be related by the Rev. Mr. Ashmore and Mrs. A. V. Gray, returned missionaries now residing in this city.

The conference will close with a pageant, "In the Shadow of the Cross," by women of the United Brethren church.

Mrs. W. W. Hoy, acting president of the federation, will preside. Other officers are Mrs. Thomas Blair, secretary; Mrs. James O'Brien, treasurer; Mrs. A. A. Jones, literature secretary; Mrs. F. B. Royce, press reporter, and Mrs. Harry Hayes, song leader. Officers will be elected Thursday, following recommendations by the nominating committee chosen to suggest the new officers.

A "covered dish" luncheon will be served at noon at the conference headquarters. The convention will meet in the auditorium. An exhibit from the Friendly Center will be exhibited in the Sunday school room. It is anticipated 300 women will attend the convention.

CITY PARK COMMISSION IS ABOLISHED BY CITY COUNCIL AT FIRST OFFICIAL MEETING

Elimination of the city park commission and consolidating the functions of that body with those of the planning commission; appointments of heads of some of the departments of the city; appointment of the city board of health, and discussions on revision of many ordinances and selection of a committee to make a survey of the city and recommend changes in the parking ordinances were features of the first meeting of the new city council held yesterday afternoon and last night.

The board went into session at 4 p. m., and continued late into the night, with intermission for dinner.

The anticipated "fight" over appointment of a superintendent of the municipal water plant developed and finally was settled by the reappointment of Walter Wray, who has held the position for a number of years.

The battle was precipitated when J. L. McBride, water commissioner, moved reappointment of Wray, and W. G. Knox, fire commissioner, interposed objection and suggested that action be deferred for one week.

Declaring that he recognized Wray as a competent man and that he did not oppose him personally, Knox said there was a considerable portion of the residents of this city who believe that the superintendent should be removed. He declared his personal belief that a change would be for the best interests of the department.

The criticism of Wray goes back to 1924, when contamination of the water resulted in a serious epidemic that resulted in a number of deaths, among which was a member of the city council.

Purinton Backs Wray
Pointing out that Wray was in no manner responsible for the condition that developed, Mayor Frank Purinton declared that it would be manifestly unfair to discharge a competent man because of unjust criticism of a few persons not familiar with the true facts. He also asserted his belief that the agitation against Wray originated with a group of friends of a man who might benefit by the removal of Wray.

"Whenever I am convinced that a large percentage of the residents want Wray discharged, and whenever I am convinced that his continuance in his position is detrimental to the interests of the city, I will vote for discharge of the superintendent," McBride said.

W. J. Kelly and Stanley Goode, other members of the council, made expressions similar to those of Purinton and McBride, and when the vote on the motion was had, Knox was alone in his opposition.

Expressing the opinion that the duties of the park commission should be assigned to the planning commission, the board voted to eliminate the commission. Centralization of the work of the two groups would redound to the benefit of the department, according to sentiment expressed.

A new planning commission was named, the appointees being Nat H. Neft, superintendent of county highways, former member of the city council and former city engineer, succeeding J. C. Metzger; George R. Wells, member of the park commission, succeeding Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, who refused to consider reappointment; Mrs. Clara Cushman, secretary, and Stanley Goode, city councilman.

Members of the retiring park commission were Mrs. W. L. Grubb, Mrs. T. E. Stephenson, Robert Northerness, Knox and Goode. The health board membership is the same as for the last four years, the members being Dr. J. I. Clark, R. A. Cushman, J. H. Cochran, J. M. Backs and Charles Mitchell.

Defer Appointments
Appointment of heads of building, plumbing and electrical inspectors continued for one week. Applications for appointment as electrical inspector were received from C. E. Treat and E. L. Finch. Applications were filed by A. H. Barnhill, J. J. Beck and W. D. McKean for appointment as superintendent of the city garage.

"Cleaning house" first, by directing that employees of the city hall who are in offices all day park their cars at some nearby parking station, or leave them at home, the county took preliminary steps to revision of the parking ordinance and a campaign against all-day parking on downtown streets by business men and clerks.

Goode, Knox and City Engineer Clyde Jenken were appointed a committee to make survey of the parking situation and recommend changes in the present ordinance. Parallel parking on Sycamore street, from First north to Church, and limit-parking around the courthouse were intimated as possible recommendations.

Permission was given the Southern Counties Gas company to cut the street at West Eighth, at Western avenue, for installation of a gas line.

Free water was granted for maintenance of center parks on North Park boulevard and free service being given at the request of E. F. Whiting, representing the property owners who want to improve the parking.

L. E. Martin, who has purchased the DuBois used furniture store at Sycamore and Second streets, was given permission to conduct an auction house as part of the business enterprise.

To Represent City
McBride, Wray and Jenken were appointed a delegation to represent the city at a conference of the Tri-County Reformation association to be held May 12, at the forest nursery, in Devil's canyon.

Permission was given O. V. Dart to move a house from 418 East McFadden street on a new location around the corner on Oak street.

Requests of H. R. Greenwald, 1816 Greenleaf, and E. R. Machander, 1504 East Santa Clara avenue, for permission to install gasoline tanks at their respective homes were referred to the fire commissioner.

Bids received from George Dunton and M. Eltiste company for supplying the city with a tractor were taken under advisement for one week.

SCOUTS ASSURE REAL FUN AT BIG JAMBOREE

Final arrangements for the big Boy Scout jamboree to be held Friday evening, April 29, at the Orange county fair grounds, were completed last night at a meeting of the jamboree committee, of which Ted Craig is chairman. The meeting revealed that not less than 28 organizations had made arrangements for their attractions on the midway of the big show. Ice cream and cake and other refreshments will be dispensed by the Brea Women's club. The Business and Professional Women's clubs of the county will treat the visitors to mysterious bags of "What have you?" The Orange county Elks will keep the air filled with confetti of every conceivable color and the Spanish War Veterans auxiliary will sell all the cakes then can lay their hands on to the highest bidder. The Newport Beach post of the American Legion and their partners, "hot puppies" and their partners, the auxiliary, will supply the dessert in the form of candy and chewing gum. Pop-corn will be popped and peanuts cracked by the Santa Ana Kiwanians. The temperature of the evening will be loved by the Brea Legion auxiliary with several truck loads of cold but soft drinks.

The Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, specializing in extravaganzas, is going to stage a classic through the medium of a Hollywood art show. The La Habra Legion has contracted for the services of a group of high class fortune tellers. Side shows for all kinds of fancy entertainment will be conducted by the Tustin K. P. lodge, the Anaheim K. P. lodge, the Brea Legion auxiliary, Spanish War Veterans, Santa Ana Knights of Columbus and the employees of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

The American Legion auxiliary will operate a fish pond. A real surprise and plenty of fresh sensations are promised by the members of the Santa Ana Legion. The Brea Lions club, not willing to endanger public safety with their jungle kings, will offer a real live duck to the man who can classify for the contest. The Anaheim Legion is ready to put on a real tango game and the Orange unit of the same organization is working on a novel stunt for the entertainment of the crowds.

All in all, Chairman Craig explained, the jamboree this year promises to be one of the greatest events of its kind ever held in the county. More than 1500 persons are working to make it the outstanding affair of all time. The midway with its variety of attractions and the dancing pavilion, to be conducted by the American Legion, will open up immediately after the Scout demonstration has been held.

that such sales must be held during the day, between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m. An order was made directing the Southern California Edison company to place all the ornamental lighting systems of the city on meter. Payment at present is made on the per lamp basis.

Elimination of ordinances that have become obsolete and revision of ordinances that conflict with each other is contemplated by the council, it was intimated by discussions concerning plans for consideration of ten ordinances at a time at regular meetings when time will permit.

How to Tint

Any woman can do perfectly gorgeous tinting of dainty lingerie, etc., if she knows the single rule: use real dye. A tint is a color and true colors require a true dye. You can dilute it to any degree you like; no matter how delicate the shade, dye-tinting is always even—never weak or "washy."

Diamond dyes are used in cold water, for all tinting; unless you want the tint to be permanent, in which case you merely have the water hot. So it isn't more trouble to tint the right way—it is really less trouble. And what a difference in how the fabric looks! A whole envelope of the real dye powder is only fifteen cents at any druggist's. See what you can do with it—ask for color cards and suggestions. Or, write for Color Craft, a beautiful book of tinting and dyeing hints in full color; free on request to DIAMOND DYES, Dept. N34, Burlington, Vermont.

SANITARIUM IN ORANGE COUNTY MOUNTAINS IS RECOMMENDED

Tuberculosis Association Suggests Withdrawing From Tri-County Body

STATE DIRECTOR ATTENDS MEETING

Head of Supervisors Board Urges Committee Seek Finances from County

Recommendations that Orange county withdraw definitely from the tri-county (Orange, Riverside and Imperial) tuberculosis hospital building project, to have been located at Banning, and take steps looking toward the erection of a modern 100-bed sanitarium somewhere in the Santa Ana mountains in the country lying between San Juan Capistrano and Elsinore, were voiced by different speakers at a conference meeting of the Orange County Tuberculosis association held yesterday afternoon at St. Ann's Inn.

Dr. John Wehrly, president of the county association, presided over the meeting which was attended by the following members: Mrs. C. C. Violett, Garden Grove; A. J. Crookshank, Santa Ana; Z. B. West Jr., district attorney; Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer; Dr. Harry D. Zaiser, superintendent of the county hospital; Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, Garden Grove, president of the county P. T. A.; Mrs. Z. B. West Jr., Santa Ana; Rev. St. John O'Sullivan, San Juan Capistrano; William Schumacher, chairman of the county board of supervisors, and Mrs. Amelia A. Meagher, secretary of the organization.

Mrs. Edith Tate-Thompson, of Fresno, director of the bureau of tuberculosis, California state board of health, and executive secretary of the California Tuberculosis association, who had come down from the city, was the principal speaker. Mrs. Thompson carried her left arm in a sling, having sustained a slight fracture to the wrist in a traffic accident on West Fourth street just as she arrived in the city for the meeting. She had alighted from a Santa Fe train and was trying to catch a bus, when she slipped and fell on the pavement. She was treated by Dr. Wehrly.

Calling attention to the increase of tuberculosis in Orange, Riverside and Imperial counties, Mrs. Thompson urged that definite action be taken by the Orange county authorities. From 1920 to 1925 she said, there were not less than 867 cases of tuberculosis in Orange county alone, 538 of which ended fatally. In the course of her remarks, she reviewed the proceedings which resulted in the tri-county hospital project, to have been known as the San Geronimo sanitarium. Notwithstanding the fact that the three counties had practically agreed upon the building plans and purchased the necessary site, further progress was delayed by the Orange county representatives who objected to having their county foot 52 per cent of the building cost. The total cost

CROWD RUSHES FOR SAFETY AS AUTOS CRASH

Pedestrians near Fourth street and Broadway hurriedly sought safety yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when an automobile, driven by Mrs. W. B. Tedford, 2003 North Broadway, suddenly dashed across the intersection and crashed into two cars parked on the north side of Fourth street.

No one was injured in the accident, but the crash attracted hundreds of people. Mrs. Tedford was driving north on Broadway and attempted to avoid running down a woman at the intersection, according to a report given the police. In doing so, she lost control of her car and it crashed into a coupe owned by W. D. Rudd. The Rudd car was thrown violently into a machine owned by John McCarty, 610 West Washington street, which was parked next to it.

Both the Rudd car and the McCarty machine were parked in a restricted district at the time, which probably saved Mrs. Tedford's car from jumping the sidewalk and crashing into a store front. The Rudd machine was badly damaged.

LAURA MURRAY NEW PRESIDENT OF S. A. CLUB

In view of the many business matters relative to the closing of a club year, yesterday's meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at St. Ann's Inn, was devoid of the usual entertainment program, but instead, was given over to reports of various features of the club year, election of new officers and their introduction.

The day was tinged with melancholy, for not only did it mark the final meeting which Miss Louise Kaiser, a popular president, would conduct, it was also a farewell meeting for Olive Lopez, charter member and always active in all B. and P. W. affairs. However, there were bright features to offset the sad, among them the excellent state of club finances as outlined by Elaine Wharton, secretary. In her report, Miss Wharton gave a comprehensive account of the year's activities in all lines, weekly program features, social activities, and the vacation bureau established by Mrs. Laura Murray, president-elect, as well as the financial status.

Miss Kaiser then read again the nominees for the various offices, and these were elected without question—Laura Murray, president; Minnie Mayhill, first vice-president;

DISPLAYS FOR VALENCIA SHOW COME IN FAST

Great Variety of Exhibits Assured Already; Autos Have Tent of Their Own

Applications for display space at the seventh annual California Valencia Orange show to be held at Anaheim, May 19 to 28, are pouring into the office of George W. Reid, manager, and all indications are that dozens of requests will have to be denied.

The unprecedented demand for space is not confined to one department alone, but is equally distributed between all four departments, fruit, or feature, industrial, automobile and amusement.

Fifteen feature exhibits already have been contracted and many more will be spoken for within the next two weeks it is reported by Manager Reid. These are Santa Ana, Orange County, Hannah Highway Bulb Garden, San Bernardino, Yorba Linda, Anaheim High school, Los Angeles, Pomona, Long Beach, Pasadena, Orange, Corona, Fullerton, Rideout Experimental Gardens, and Davis Perfection Bread Co.

There are 136 display booths in the industrial section of the show and majority of these are already taken, it is announced. The exhibits range all the way from hot dog and popcorn stands to an elaborate display of iceless refrigerators. In point of number, California sub-divisions have up to date excelled all others and anything from a cabin site to a finished avocado grove can be obtained.

Beer and limberger cheese will be featured in one booth, orchard heaters, resembling sewing machines, showing the latest methods of keeping Jack Frost out of the orange orchards in another, while perfumery, petroleum by-products, automobile accessories, meat and vacuum cleaners are among the industrial exhibits already assured. Three fourths of the industries of Southern California with millions of dollars of manufactured products will be represented in this section.

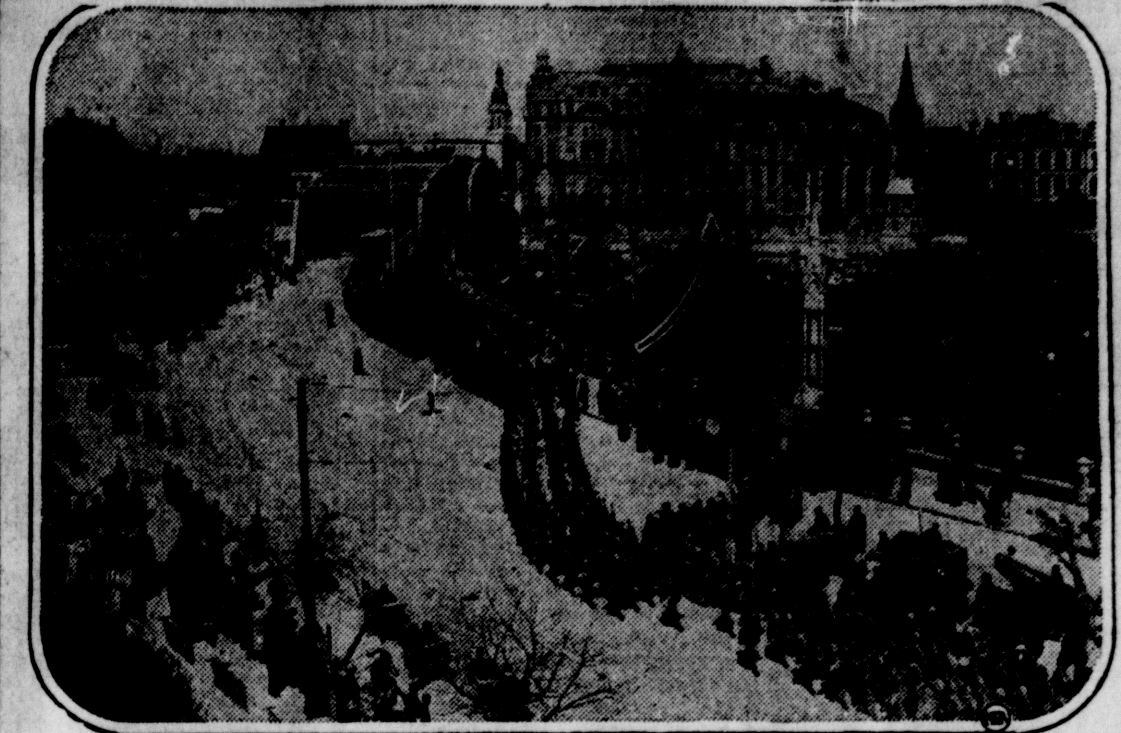

Fifteen of the 36 spaces in the automobile section have been taken and it is believed that the applications for the remainder will exceed the number available. Concessions in the amusement zone have been awarded to the A. B. C. Carnival company, an organization that has handled many county fairs and large carnival affairs throughout California.

The Pacific Electric Railway will issue special round trip tickets from Los Angeles to Fullerton and free busses will transport the passengers from Fullerton to the grounds, according to an announcement by Manager Reid, following a conference with Pacific Electric officials.

BRITISH TROOPS IN ENTERING SHANGHAI PASS DIRECTLY BY CONSULATE OF SOVIET

Marching under the shadow of the soviet consulate, the Suffolk regiment of British infantry is shown here as it entered Shanghai. The arrow points to the consulate. Just behind the soviet building is the Astor House hotel, and on the extreme right the German consulate. The soviet consulate, suspected source of propaganda, has been under close surveillance by volunteer foreign pickets.

EXPANSION OF COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM SHOWN

A gain from three high schools in Orange county, with a total of 17 teachers, in 1902, to nine institutions of this class, with an aggregate teaching force of 252, in 1927, is shown in the records of the county superintendent of schools. These figures were presented at a recent convention of California school superintendents.

A review of the records bearing upon the development of the county's educational facilities reveals that in 1902 Orange county had only three high schools, in Santa Ana, Fullerton and Anaheim. The Santa Ana institution had nine teachers, and Fullerton and Anaheim had four each.

Following is a list of the high schools in the county at present, with number of teachers employed in each:

Santa Ana, 65; Fullerton, 50; Anaheim, 41; Orange, 34; Huntington Beach, 23; Tustin, 13; Garden Grove, 13; Brea-Olinda, 8; and San Juan Capistrano, 5.

In addition to this phenomenal increase in educational equipment the county has established two junior colleges, one in Santa Ana and the other in Fullerton, and two junior high schools, in Santa Ana.

In part the growth has been due to increase in population, County Superintendent Mitchell explained, but the remarkable development in higher education also is evidence of wider interest, as well as better appreciation on the part of the public in the purpose and functions of secondary schools.

MARK 'EASY MARKS'

NEW YORK, April 6. — Hotel porters in Europe are following the example of American hoboes who chalk mark gateposts to indicate whether or not the lady of the house is kind. The porters now mark guests' baggage to show what sort of tipsters they are. The information was given by Miss Clara Laughlin, author, in an address on "Travel as a Fine Art."

RETURN SEIZED LIQUOR

NEWARK, N. J., April 26.—Some $50,000 worth of liquor seized from J. Bayard Kirkpatrick of West Caldwell on a tip from a discharged butler is to be returned. Treasury officials have ruled that the warrant was defective.

200 Hear L. A. Man In Anaheim

ANAHEIM, April 26.—Two hundred persons were present to hear Dr. Bruce Baxter, instructor at the University of Southern California, at the meeting of the Forum club in the White Temple Methodist church last night. Dr. Baxter talked on "Is England Decadent?"

LARGE NUMBER HEAR LEO HAAS AT EBELL CLUB

In the first of a series of five lectures under the auspices of the National Health and Psychological Bureau of America, Leo A. Haas, noted lecturer and teacher, was greeted by a large audience in the Ebell Club auditorium last evening.

He has the faculty of presenting his facts in a neatly understood, simple and direct manner, hearers said today, who also said he does not deal in verbal pyrotechnics, and reveals the enthusiast only by an earnestness and grasp of his subject which holds and carries conviction to the hearts of his hearers.

After the lecture he answered many questions on health and psychology. One inquirer asked if his work was anything like that of Almece Semple-McPherson's. He drew a laugh when he replied: "No; Mrs. McPherson is teaching people how to get into heaven—I am trying to keep them out."

Haas is not a stranger to Santa Ana. On his last appearance here he lectured in conjunction with one of his most famous pupils, Gilbert Thayer, well known in this city.

Haas will lecture this evening on the new science, bio-chemistry, which now is occupying the attention of the foremost scientists of the east, where his lectures have created a sensation.

BAN PLAY ON RADIO

NEW YORK, April 26.—"Spread Eagle" shall not scream on the air. An arrangement for broadcasting of a melodrama depicting intervention in Mexico after a revolution inspired by Wall street has been canceled by WEAF. The reason assigned is that the play is not adaptable for radio presentation. Veterans of Foreign Wars have been urging District Attorney Banton to take action because they think the play is un-American and unwholesome.

C. E. CONCLAVE WILL BE HELD IN SAN DIEGO

Prohibition, and China, will be the outstanding topics for discussion at the thirty-fifth annual convention of San Diego district of Epworth league, which includes San Diego, Imperial, Riverside and Orange counties, at the Park boulevard Methodist church in San Diego April 30 to May 1, according to the advance notices of the meeting, received by local officials.

Russell Kent, of Fullerton, will deliver an address to the convention concerning the most recent findings on prohibition. The Rev. W. H. Stockton, of Newport Beach, will tell of the institute of 1926, Miss May Beamer, of Santa Ana, who is the president of the district, will preside during the convention.

In the discussion of the prohibition question, a debate will be conducted on the question: Resolved: That prohibition has caused an increase in crime in the United States. Representatives from Riverside county will argue the affirmative and San Diego members will uphold the negative. Norma Young of Imperial will speak on the physical and mental effects of alcohol.

A view of the Chinese situation is expected to be given during the course of a lecture by Miss Myrth Bartlett, China missionary. Miss Bartlett will talk primarily along the theme of the assistance which Chinese students give to others.

Conferences will be held for the various superintendents of divisions in the Epworth league organization by conference officials and for chapter officers by conference and district officers.

In the business meeting, which will be held Saturday, April 30, at 1:30 p. m., officers for the coming year will be elected. Miss May Beamer, of Santa Ana, is now president.

In the installation of sub-district presidents and councils at 11 a. m., Sunday, May 1, presided over by Dr. Clyde M. Crist, of Los Angeles, John Winterbourne, of Tustin, will be officially installed in the office of president of the Orange county sub-district, to which he was recently elected. As the Orange county sub-district has been organized only since the election of officers, Winterbourne will be the first president.

Approximately 1000 Epworth Leaguers are expected to register at the convention of which number about 250 will attend from Orange county, according to authorities.

For the transportation of convicts in Germany a special car is provided. It is fitted with heavily barred doors and has cell arranged along the sides.

EGYPT WOMEN FAVOR MODERN STYLES. SANTA ANA MAN FINDS

Costumes of Ancient Times Discarded for Dresses of Knee Length, High Heels

KING TUT BODY PUT BACK IN TOMB

Pyramids of Cheops Attract Deepest Attention Because of Workmanship

The women of Egypt are leaving behind the costumes of a thousand years in favor of short skirts and high heels, and before many years elapse the women of Cairo will be as modernly dressed as are the women in any part of Europe. The body of King Tut has been taken back into his tomb, to remain forever, but the wonderfully rich surroundings of his sarcophagus may be viewed in the Egypt museum, a collection resplendent beyond description.

Those are two of the interesting bits of information contained in a letter received in Santa Ana from J. H. Scott, of this city, who is on his way home after a world tour.

When he wrote his letter the ship had stopped at Port Sudan, about half way through the Red Sea, and there the traveler first set foot on African soil. The boat took on a cargo of gum and doom nuts, the gum being the pitch from some African tree and is used in making gum arabic and myrrage. The nuts, almost as hard and white as ivory, are used to make buttons.

Modern Cities Along Canal

This territory is under British control and the city itself is laid out and being built up in real modern fashion, says Mr. Scott. The next port on the route is Suez, where the canal begins at the end of the Red Sea. The ship waited here for a few hours for clearance orders to start on the canal trip, but the passengers had no opportunity to go ashore, so were obliged to content themselves with the close-up view of the city of Suez which they could get from the ship. It looked like a very modern and prosperous place.

The trip through the canal takes anywhere from 12 to 24 hours, according to the number of times the ship had to stop and tie up to permit other boats to pass. The canal, with the exception of a few places where the water is a very narrow ditch, dug through the sandy desert. The desert sands are constantly drifting into the canal, necessitating an immense amount of work by the canal company to shovel out and carry them back. Much of this work is done by donkeys and camels.

This was the first sight the travelers obtained of camel land. They saw plenty of the animals afterward, so that they were no novelty, but the first sight of one of these long camel caravans, winding its way with slow and stately tread along the desert, beside the canal, gives every greenhorn a real thrill, writes Mr. Scott. His boat was lucky enough to get through in 12 hours, not having to stop for other ships to pass.

Port Said is the Mediterranean terminal of the canal. On one side of the entrance is the lighthouse and on the other a colossal statue of Ferdinand De Lesseps, the en-

SANITARIUM IN ORANGE COUNTY RECOMMENDED
was estimated at close to $200,000, of which amount Orange county was asked to cover $100,000.

Supervisor Schumacher said that he was sorry that the tri-county project fell by the wayside. He added that though not authorized to speak for his colleagues in this matter, he thought that the supervisors did not feel justified in spending such a large amount on a project located outside of the county, more so as Orange county had been asked to carry more than half of the building cost.

He voiced the belief that the supervisors were no longer interested in the tri-county project. Realizing the need of relief, he suggested that the county build its own sanitarium in the mountain country to be traversed by the proposed Eismore-San Juan Capistrano road. Along with this recommendation, he further suggested that a special committee of citizens interested in the project, including Drs. Wehrly, Presson and Zaiser, be appointed to go over the ground and bring in recommendations as to site, building plans, et cetera.

Schumacher's suggestion found a ready echo among the workers and several voiced their approval of the proposition. It was suggested that the matter of selecting a suitable site in the Santa Ana mountains be submitted by Schumacher to the board of supervisors for formal action.

Another suggestion to secure a suitable site outside of the county met with little response when District Attorney Z. B. West Jr. advised the conference members that the proposed expenditure would be without legal sanction unless authorized by special legislation.

Dr. Presson made an eloquent plea for action that would bring needed relief to the hundreds of tuberculosis sufferers who for lack of suitable facilities are left to shift for themselves.

MEXICAN BERNHARDT AT TEMPLE THEATRE
Virginia Fabregas, the Mexican Bernhardt, comes to Santa Ana for two performances at the Temple theater starting tomorrow evening. The noted Mexican star has selected two of her greatest successes for her Santa Ana engagement and will present Wednesday night "The Enemy," a dramatic masterpiece by the Italian dramatist, Nicodemus. "Madame X," the famous play of Bernstein, noted French playwright, will be the bill Thursday night. Mme. Fabregas brings here in her support the same cast of sterling players headed by Andres Chavez that supported her during a run of five weeks just concluded at the California theater, Los Angeles.

The company goes to the Capitol theater, Los Angeles, after the Santa Ana engagement. The star owns the Fabregas theater in Mexico City, a playhouse second only to the National theater in the Mexican capital. Students of Spanish will receive much benefit by witnessing these two plays.

YOST THEATRE
One of the startling features of the performance of Jean Gros' French Marionettes, who come to the Yost theater tonight, is the illusion that is caused by the figures, with regards to their size. The attraction is sponsored by the University Women's club of Orange county.

After an audience has watched the Marionettes for 10 minutes, all sense of proportion is lost by the audience, and the Marionettes appear almost life-size. Hence when the performance is completed, and an actor steps out among the figures he seems to be about 30 feet tall. The audience simply gasps with astonishment.

Strangely enough no glasses are used to create this illusion, the eye is simply deceived by the fact that all the scenery and small properties such as chairs, tables, stools, etc., are made in proportion to the figure, and thus the human eye having nothing to compare the Marionettes with all sense of size is lost.

Gros is presenting "The Adventure of Huckleberry Finn" from the book by Mark Twain, a complete play for adults, and more than 150 Marionettes. The company is the largest company that has ever toured the United States and is so full of originality that comparisons are impossible.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS (WEEDS)
The City of Santa Ana will commence cutting weeds April 26th; if some have not been taken care of by the property owner, prior to the arrival of the city forces, the Street Department will cut the weeds without further notice.

Your attention is called to the fact that during previous years it has been necessary to reclaim some lots where the weeds have only been partially cut by the owners. In order to avoid this confusion if anyone is uncertain as to whether their lots are properly cleaned, please call Phone No. 1136 and a city inspector will be sent to inspect the lots.

EAT THE THEATRE
Ramon Novarro and Alice Terry in a scene from "Lovers," current attraction at the West Coast-Walker theater.

WEST COAST-WALKER
A play with no villain—except slander!

This is the remarkable feat of the camera unfolded at the West Coast-Walker theater in "Lovers," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational new drama of modern society. It is a gripping romance—a thrilling narrative—and an expose of one of the greatest perils of modern society, all in one.

Ramon Novarro, hero of the mighty drama, "Ben-Hur," is hero of the new picture—a play just as mighty in its way as his other vehicle. For it is a play of a greater enemy than marching armies—an invisible enemy that is seen to ruin homes, wreck human lives, and destroy human souls, in the mighty narrative.

Alice Terry plays the heroine—a Spanish beauty who is thrust into the heart of the furnace of scandal. It is a remarkable tale of two innocent people whose happiness is wrecked, whose morals are assailed—whose very souls are blighted by whispering tongues.

All of the romance, beauty, songs and dances of the old south are portrayed with a vivid touch of realism in Fanchon and Marco's glamorous Hi-Brown "Idea."

"Can't You Hear Me Callin' Caroline," that beautiful ballad is entwined throughout the presentation, which brings the most beautiful bevy of Hi-Brown beauties and the cleverest group of specialties performers together in a lively interpretation of an evening on the levee.

YOST BROADWAY THEATRE
Eddie Cantor, in "Special Delivery," which closes tonight at the Yost Broadway theater, has brought to the screen a wholly new style of comedy that, while packed to the brim with exuberantly funny situations, has, at the same time a most pleasing sincerity.

As a rookie postman in "Special Delivery," Cantor is at times an utterly pathetic figure and at others so uproariously funny, one's utmost capacity for laughter is taxed to the ultimate limit. You just can't help laughing at the utterly ludicrous situations into which Cantor's postman gets himself. And yet through it all he is so human.

There is one thing about Cantor's work that is always apparent. He never burlesques the character he is portraying. Instead he approaches it with a sympathetic understanding and then proceeds to make you laugh with him at the hilariously funny situations into which he blunders.

Supporting Cantor in "Special Delivery" are Jobyna Ralston, fresh from her three years of work as leading woman for Harold Lloyd; William Powell, last season in "Love's Greatest Mistake"; Jack Dougherty, Donald Keith, Victor Potel, Paul Kelley and Mary Carr.

gineer who conceived and carried through the tremendous project of a sea level canal. Port Said does not seem to be popular with tourists, as they all seem to want to get away as soon as possible. There is not much of interest, except plenty of Mohammedan mosques, and one quickly is fed up on them in Moslem land, says the writer.

But Cairo, he says, is a city to delight any traveler's heart. So full of life and color. People from every nation under the sun, dressed in every sort of native garb. The Turkish fez for men and the black scarf and veil for women seem to be modernizing rapidly, as the women, while veiling their faces, have their skirts up to their knees and wear high-heeled shoes as up-to-date as Broadway.

Strange combinations of ancient and modern dress are seen here and in a few years all will be so modernized that it won't be worth a visit.

Plenty of Alma Seekers
The greatest pest of this city of Cairo and the bane of the tourist's life is the vast horde of beggars, peddlers and would-be guides. They beset one before and behind on both sides. Hawkers of shoe strings, beads, postal cards, laces and everything imaginable run after one for blocks.

Bootblacks insist on shining your shoes, guides attach themselves to you and you can't shake them off and beggars everywhere are crying "baksheesh." The only way to get rid of them is to get angry and threaten them with a stick and that is hard on one's disposition.

Cairo is not an ancient city as antiquity goes, but dates back to about 620 B. C. It was built by the Arabs and is not in Egyptian style. It is a city of mosques and minarets, there being more than 500 Mohammedan mosques there.

A visit is not complete without a visit to a few of the largest and most elaborate ones, but the two places of supreme importance are the Pyramids of Gizeh and the museum. The pyramids are across the Nile on the edge of the desert, easily reached in 40 minutes by electric car or auto.

"I have looked at their pictures many times," writes Mr. Scott, "without any feeling of awe, but when I stood for the first time at their feet and looked up at their hoary heads lifted skyward, I felt like taking off my hat in reverence to those mighty monuments that have stood there for at least 4000 years, defying storm and time and men, watching ages and nations come and go. They alone remain of the seven wonders of the ancient world."

Explores Largest Pyramid
"The first day I spent there, I explored the largest pyramid inside and out, climbed to the top and crept inside through long sloping tunnels to the burial chambers of King Cheops and his wife and daughters in the center of the pyramid. This one covers a ground area of 13 acres, is 756 feet long on each side at the base and in 481 feet high. It took 100,000 men 30 years to build it. The rock was quarried from across the Nile about 15 miles away and then it was surfaced with alabaster rock brought down the Nile 600 miles away.

"These blocks average about three feet thick, some are five feet, and are 30 feet long. How they were transported and put into place is a mystery to modern engineers. We do know that it was done by slave labor and under the taskmaster's lash, hundreds of thousands of the people of conquered nations were driven to the work till they dropped dead and like so many flies the bodies were thrown into the great pits and others took their places, all that for his dead body to rest in security.

"What a beautiful sight this mighty pyramid must have been with its white alabaster surface glistening under the desert sky, but none of the outside covering of alabaster remains. It has been stolen and peeled off through the ages by succeeding monarchs to build mosques and palaces, till the surface has been reduced to a depth of 25 feet. The inside blocks are of a softer limestone, which is gradually melting away.

"There are three large and three small pyramids here at Gizeh. Each one has a shaft or tunnel about four feet square and pointing directly at the North star, the bewildering array of archaeological other tunnels lead to the burial chambers.

"The sphinx was next visited. The majority of pictures having the pyramid in the background misrepresent the actual size. It was much smaller than I had imagined. The sand has recently been excavated from around it, so that the forelegs and feet are exposed. It is 90 feet long and 70 feet high, and is carved from solid rock with the exception of the forelegs, which are built up with blocks of stone. Near it are the excavated ruins of the sphinx temple, also carved out of solid rock, and now many feet underground on account of the drifting sand of the desert.

Has First Camel Ride
"Here I had my first camel ride, which is quite an experience. The riding is very easy and comfortable; it is when the camel gets up that you have to look out. A camel gets up in three stages. First on the fore knees, then the back end comes up and lastly the rest of the front legs, in three great pitches forward and backward you plunge, then it is smooth sailing.

"One day at the pyramids did not satisfy me, so I went back a few days later and spent another day wandering about alone, exploring the smaller ones and hiking out into the desert to get a more distant and inclusive view of the whole group. I cannot describe the spell and charm of them; you must see and feel it for yourself.

See King Tut Treasures
"I spent two days in the Cairo museum, probably the world's greatest collection of Egyptian antiquities. One could spend months there and not see all. It is a bewildering array of archaeological treasures gathered from all parts of Egypt. There are statues of kings, bits of architecture, sarcophagi and mummies until you can't sleep. Two entire rooms are filled with treasures taken from King Tut's tomb and his body has been replaced in the tomb to stay, but the three golden mummy cases that enclosed his body are in the museum, beautiful beyond description. All the golden furniture, two chariots, royal throne and personal effects of the king are to remain on exhibition.

"One whole room is used for the display in glass cases of his jewels and ornaments, under strictest guard of soldiers, as they are priceless. I could ramble on indefinitely about these treasures, but some day when you have saved your pennies, you will go and see it for yourself and then, like a certain queen of old you will say, 'the half has never been told.'

And this is only the first chapter of the story. There is Sakkarah, down the Nile a few miles, the site of an ancient Memphis, where there are more pyramids and monuments, then a trip up the Nile to Beni Hassan, noted for its caves and tombs, Luxor, Karnak and Thebes and the Valley of the Kings, ad infinitum.

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA: Andrew Jackson

Sketches by Bessey
Synopsis By Braucher

Jackson's bold attack on Pensacola was an important victory. His forces routed the English, Indians and Spaniards and broke up the base of preparations for a British attack upon New Orleans. The English started at once to move on New Orleans and it took every ounce of Jackson's dynamic energy to defend the city.

Rallying 2000 soldiers, pirates and Negroes into a motley army, he hurriedly threw up crude defenses.

On Jan. 8, 1815, the British attacked Jackson's works and were repulsed with great slaughter.

Jackson's losses were only 8 killed and 14 wounded, while the deadly rifles of the Americans mowed down the enemy like wind flattens prairie grass. Old Hickory's reputation swept across the continent. He was appointed commander-in-chief of the Southern Division and sent campaigning against the Seminoles. (To Be Continued.)

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Said Clowry, "Let me rock the tot! Twill fall asleep as like as not. The rest of you can sing a song. Now that's a dandy plan. We have not got a rocking chair, but get those boughs, right over there, and we will build a little one as quickly as we can."

It didn't take the Tines long to make a little chair, quite strong. They twisted lots of boughs a bout until the thing was done. It proved to be a worthy stock, as Clowry started in to rock. And, as the others gathered round, a song was soon begun.

"Was queer to hear the Tines croon. The baby seemed to like the tune, and very shortly went to sleep as peaceful as could be. Then Clowry seemed to quickly stop, funny rocking chair went flop, and down went tot and Clowry. What a funny site to see!

Of course the baby was awake. Then someone said, "For goodness sake! That surely is my baby. Did it fall out of the tree?" The baby's mother stood nearby, and when the child began to cry, she turned to Clowry, saying, "Kindly give the child to me."

They told her of the sudden fall, and then she thanked them, one and all, and took the baby in her arms and quickly walked away. "I'm glad that's over," Scoutly said. "Let's find the road and move ahead. I see a little house nearby. Let's hike to that and play."

So Scoutly led them on a room that led right to the little home. They walked up to the doorstep just as quiet as a mouse. "Hurrah!" said Copy, full of cheer. "That sign says Mother Goose lives here. They say that she is very kind. I hope she's in the house."

BOOST THE YOUNGER GENERATION!

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The biography of a successful inventor tells again the story of a man's triumph due to his mother's faith in him.

A popular actress told a reporter sent to interview her recently, that she would have given up discouraged years before the public ever heard of her if her young husband hadn't persisted in his faith in her ability and convinced her of her talent for acting.

If we dig down to the roots of anyone's success, we're almost sure to find them growing in someone's faith in him.

Everybody is sensitive and responsive to praise. They talk about the callousness of the young people today. Don't you believe it! The chances are that their parents have made a better job of bringing them up, that's all. They are not full of fears and the wrong kind of inhibitions. They are made to feel that they are going to amount to something, that's all. And they will.

I haven't any patience with this new generation bugaboo. I read this and I read that and I too join the doubting Thomases and end by deciding that the young people of today are everything just short of cut-throats.

Then I look around and use my own eyes, and ears, and senses, which each of us should use, and do my own deciding instead of letting others decide for me. And what do I see? The nicest lot of boys and girls that ever lived, studying hard, working hard, and planning for a big future.

If we're going to make the world any better, we're not going to do it by slandering it. I think they take it all very patiently, myself, the amount of banging they get. Sometimes I get suspicious. Can it be that they are "considering the source," and laughing it off with as little attention as it deserves?

Why not try praising them once in a while? Just because a young man doesn't quite reach maturity as we know it, until four years later than he used to on account of the new rush for education, we say he is playing.

Just wait and see. And meanwhile a little faith and a little praise will do a lot. Tell a boy he won't amount to anything and he's a wonder if he does. But stick to him and back him up with your faith and loyalty and if he has two cents worth of pride, he'll not disappoint you.

The French have adopted the use of the English word "home," their nearest approach to a word of this meaning being "foyer," a hearth.

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERED LETTERS

Brown Eyes—Buttermilk makes a very soothing treatment for the skin if it is parched or tanned from the spring winds. There is some tendency also to bleach off the tan while the small amount of butter fat relieves the dryness. A stronger bleach, and also a harmless one, is cucumber juice. The different bleaches you mention will only give you a temporary effect and will injure your skin if you form the habit of using them.

Mary Ann R.—Lemon juice in the rinse after a shampoo will help to keep blond hair from growing drab looking, but you have no need to do this as you say your hair is dark. No one should use either lemon juice or vinegar juice in the rinse if the hair is inclined to be dry, as the acid will increase the trouble and very soon the hair will split and break off.

The pimples, must come from some internal disorder, and you had better trace it to the cause to rid yourself of them. Begin with your diet and see if that is right as the trouble usually comes from this cause.

Very Anxious.—Weak ankles may be strengthened through exercise. A strong solution of sea salt massaged into the ankles will help to strengthen them.

Miss K. K.—Steam the skin slightly by using hot, wet wash cloths over the blackheads, for a few minutes. This will open the clogged pores when you can soften the impacts by working some cleansing cream into the skin with your finger tips. Bathe with warm water and a fine soap, rinse with cool and then very cold water or rub with a tiny piece of ice.

Repeat this cleansing treatment every day and take a full tub bath daily to relieve the pores of the complexion from being overtaxed. After a few weeks you will find a great difference in your skin.

Billy.—Peroxide loses its bleaching quality if it has been uncorked for a long time, or exposed to the light. Possibly this explains why you did not succeed in your efforts with it.

The mixture of peroxide and ammonia may be half and half, or the skin is sensitive to ammonia, make the mixture two parts peroxide and one part ammonia. It is bound to bleach the superfluous hair even if you do not include the ammonia. It should not be necessary to apply it every day as you suggest, for when the hair is bleached you need no more applications until the color returns.

Mrs. J. S.—When using yeast as a skin treatment for pimples, you merely dampen the cake to make it as pliable as a salve, and apply it. Flour of sulphur is also another local treatment, but the troubles lies in your system and should have attention to hid you of the outbreaks.

Mrs. A. R. T.—Bitter aloes is an old time remedy used for breaking the habit of nail biting. You get it in the drugstore, and paint a tiny bit of it under each nail tip—just to remind you by the bitter taste when you forget your resolution to break the habit. You did not give your age, but 113 pounds would be underweight for an adult of five feet, five and a half inches height.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

DADDY LONGLEGS

By Arthur N. Pack
President, American Nature Ass'n.

Everybody likes Daddy Longlegs. He has four pairs of legs, and if your legs were as long in comparison they would be 40 feet long.

Daddy Longlegs has seven joints in his long legs. His second pair of legs are the longest. They seem to be used for exploration purposes, and correspond with the feelers of the cockroach.

Ordinarily Daddy swings along carrying his little body raised some distance from the ground. But when he has located something good to eat with this second pair of legs, he swings his body to the ground exploring the surface with his palpi. These palpi are just above his jaws and are usually folded up under his head out of the way.

He uses them somewhat as an elephant uses his trunk, conveying food to his mouth with them and stuffing it in. He also uses these convenient adjuncts when making his toilet, for he seems very proud of his long, slim legs and keeps them well groomed. He holds a long with these palpi and carefully draws its entire length through his jaws, currying and cleaning it industriously.

As to his choice of food, Daddy has everybody guessing. He hunts his food at night, and opinion seems divided between the juices of insects and the juices of plants as his natural food. It is quite possible that like people, he prefers a mixed meal and vegetable diet, and likes well-balanced meals.

This little friend is often considered an insect, but this is a mistake, as it is a close relative of the spider, scorpion and other of the eight-legged little creatures.

HOW TO SEE A BASEBALL GAME

I've never forgotten the joy I had when I was a lad. And a man, full grown played the friend to me. Would that every boy, had such friends as he! For many a day, when the summer came, He'd take me out to the baseball game.

He gave me the thrill of the game complete. A grand stand seat. And all the pep corn that I could eat, Introduced me to men that I longed to meet, Taught me the rules and the players' names, And that is the way to see baseball games.

Oh man, when you go with that merry throng, Make a boy along! Talk with him, walk with him, let him share In the glorious thrill of the game our there And down to the end of your life you'll be That small boy's happiest memory.

better than For there's nothing a boy likes To be a chum to a man! And I'll say for the friend who was good to me That never a baseball game I see, But I think of him and his kindly ways When I was a boy in those early days.

THE WOMAN'S DAY

BY ALLENE SUMNER

Successful business, professional and political women are saying the same thing over and over these days when they tell other women how to succeed. "Do not become masculine," they say. "No woman can compete with man as a man; but as a woman she can get anywhere." The statement may be a bit exaggerated. But what every business woman knows is the commercial value today of "the woman's viewpoint." And knowing its value, one wonders at the policy of so many women who enter offices and proceed to demonstrate that they can "do things just like a man."

Father of Nine Scott Workman, aged 40, papa of 9 children, paid the penalty to the state the other day for murdering his wife, Nora. One doesn't even need to wonder what Nora, the murdered wife, thought and wished for when her husband went to the electric chair. One doesn't need to wonder, for one knows that she was thinking of those 9 kids at home and wishing, perhaps, that the law would send them home a father, even if he did bash her one on the head. Then again, maybe we're all wrong and she thought the 9 would be better off without him.

"Tomorrow A. M." It's rather late in the day to begin talking about "Tomorrow Morning" by Anne Parish. But even though late, I seem to scent an idea which has not been very loudly ballyhooed. The story, we have been told by everyone, was the story of a woman who expected to carve out her career "even if married." She kept putting off from one day to the next her "career" until it was too late. The moral seems to try to be that if a person has real talent it won't be submerged by the details of living. Joe Green But to me the real point of the book is Joseph Montgomery Green, a typical four-flushing husband—the husband type only too many wives know. Joe might be "too hard up" for them to trade at the best market but he was never "too hard up" for a patent lawn sprinkler or a five pound box of chocolates or photographs of the house. And one knows very well why Kate Star never succeeded.

Tip to Gals If a girl is really smart she will spend every cent she can rake and scrape for clothes and even borrow some, if she needs to, in order to look smart. So emits none less than the Marchioness de la Falaise, better known as Gloria Swanson. She elaborates that clothes are the best investment a girl can make. By salting away every penny she may rake together a thousand dollars or so, but by spending every penny and then some, she may rake in a rich guy. I suppose I should disparage Gloria's philosophy and make some sage remarks about the joys of thrift—I rather think she's right.

Her Boze Bill Some woman out in the wild and woolly wants $1000 a month alimony. She asked the court how in the world a poor woman could get along with aught less when her monthly liquor bill alone was $300. Which the next cute little nut that divorce judges must crack or not crack.

To keep the country girls on the farm, the French government is considering giving dowries to girls who marry farmers.

A Real Realm of Women

They Alone Rule Haifa Colony

Till Earth, Lay Roads, Govern

By NEA Service

JERUSALEM, April 26.—Woman in ancient Palestine was never the bearer of burden that she was in some of the other eastern countries. And the new Palestine, being created today, in accordance with the Balfour Declaration, is living up to this tradition of women's equality. Indeed, the beautiful section of Nahalal, near Haifa, first settled by the Zionists, boasts of the only all-woman's colony in the world.

Here, a group of one hundred and fifty women rule supreme, themselves doing everything from cooking to tilling fields and laying roads.

Student Founders The colony was established several years ago by a group of young Jewish girl graduates from Europe, who came to Palestine enthusiastic to "do their bit" towards the re-establishment of the national Jewish homeland. They found hundreds of young women, working side by side with the men, doing every form of the rough, pioneer work required in building up a new country.

But these newcomers, influenced, perhaps, by current "feminine emancipation" ideas, felt that the women workers were merely assisting—playing "second fiddle" to the men. They felt that the women should have an opportunity to make their own individual contribution to the reconstruction.

Sheehana Lubin, mayoress of the woman's colony at Haifa.

"Two California cows are we, Our milk the finest ever,"

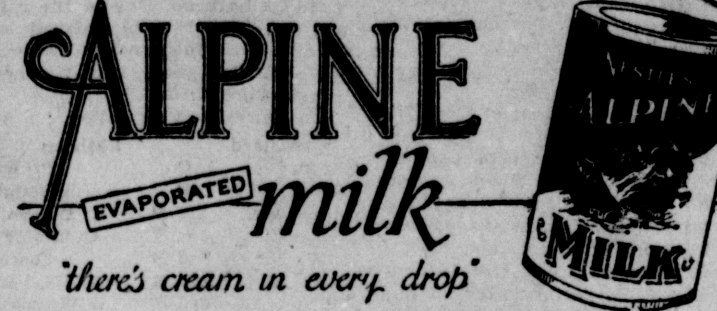

More economical —and there's cream in every drop

ASK the woman who uses Alpine! She'll tell you how economical it is. Costs less than ordinary milk—and so rich, it saves butter in cooking.

It takes a quart of rigidly tested, fresh full-cream milk to make a pint of Alpine. Nothing added—nothing taken away but water. Of course Alpine is richer, more nutritious! There's cream in every drop!

For more delicious coffee—for richer, finer recipes—try Alpine. Sterilized in its air-tight container, its purity and freshness are assured—always.

SANTA ANA TO HAVE TEAM IN TYPING MEET

First, Second, Third Year Classes Will Be Entered In Keyboard Competition

BY VIRGINIA BRANNON
SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Nimble fingers have those who are qualified to enter the annual typewriting contest to be held at John C. Fremont high school, Los Angeles, April 30.

Miss Frances Lapum, typewriting instructor, is planning on sending first, second and third year classes to this contest and those who possess the necessary active fingers, for third year are Helen Sexton and Al-

Virginia Brannon, berta Briggs; second year, Mildred Stumpf, Catherine Lacy, Meryle Williams and Hazel Crawford; first year, Louise Mason, Erich Rehnau, Gladys Cope and Mary Elizabeth Smith.

Hazel Crawford seems to be high point girl and has made an astonishing record of 75 words a minute typing 15 minutes without an error while in a state contest. Albert E. Bullock is general chairman of the contest committee and he is planning to make "contest day" a big occasion. There is to be no program other than the contests, but the regular spring meeting of the commercial departments of all the Southern California schools will be held on May 14, two weeks after contest day. At the spring meeting all awards will be given to the lucky winners.

This is a team contest open to any public high school pupil who has not received instruction in typewriting before August 1, 1926. A cup will be awarded to the school whose team of three students makes the highest net record. The cup becomes the permanent property of the school winning it three consecutive times. An individual cup will be awarded to the student writing the highest net words for any minute. Also an individual cup will be awarded to the student in Class one, two or three, who writes 40 or more net words per minute and who attains the highest degree of accuracy.

21 STUDENTS GET HONORARY RATING

BY ALICE PRATHER
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Twenty-one students, exactly the same number as last quarter, made the scholarship society in Tustin high school. Although Tustin has adopted the five-point grading system, there were no changes in the membership.

The seniors kept up their honor by having one-half of the scholarship membership. Florence Caverly, junior, received 16 points, which was the highest number of points received.

Those who are members this quarter are: Alice Prather, Virginia Vial, Ruth Tantlinger, Evelyn Rogers, Charlotte Pritchard, John Newman, Alice McDougall, Charles Lewis, Russell Hind, Louise Artz, Delta Garlock, Edith McDonald, Walter Huntley, Jean Giddings, Florence Caverly, Edwin Hind, Emma Williams, Frances Parks, Kathleen Covern, Bob Kirk, and Caroline Ferrey.

Twenty of these students were eligible for the honor society picture. In order to be in this picture, it was necessary for freshmen to have made the society two quarters, and other classmates, three.

May Breakfast To Be Served Juniors

BY BARBARA ISCH
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—The seasonal motif of spring will be carried out in the menu and decorations alike at the May breakfast to be given May 6, at 7 a. m., by the senior class in honor of the juniors.

Final plans were made Monday at a meeting of the senior girls. The idea of a May breakfast was introduced last year by the class of 1926, and it is believed it will become established as an annual affair.

BOYS AND GIRLS AT TUSTIN SCHOOL FIND INSTRUCTION IN WEAVING INTERESTING

Students in the weaving class at Tustin union high school know their web. Here are three members of the class, Alma Condra, Dorothy Ahern and Ruth Tantlinger, posed beside one of the new looms that has been installed this year.

Fullerton Frolics

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—"The Goose Hangs High" was presented very successfully in the high school auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings.

The members of the money and banking class will visit the Los Angeles stock exchange and clearing house this week to obtain a first hand idea of how those institutions operate.

Fifty-eight girls and 32 boys are listed on the honor roll for the third quarter. With an enrollment of about 1000, this percentage is said to rank very high among Southern California high schools. Catherine Crist and Annie Peterson were the leaders in the senior class; Mary McGill and Vera Stull, junior class; Irvin Chapman, sophomore class; Clarence Block, Richard Nixon, Howard Livingston, freshman class.

Jean Gros French marionettes will be seen in two shows at Fullerton May 3. The matinee will begin at 2:30 o'clock and the evening performance at 8 p. m. The marionettes have been brought to Fullerton through the student body.

A course in home nursing will be offered next year Miss Dunn. The course will be of special value to those girls considering nursing as a career.

The annual junior college carnival will be held in the court of the high school the evening of Friday, May 6.

Marjorie Walker, Evelyn Hammond, Doris Redfern, Ruth Kent, Jean Miller, Marguerite Filpot, Helen Lang and Marian Marsden were thrown into the bay when the big loop in which they were riding at Balboa suddenly tipped over. Some of the girls saved themselves by swimming and a big, handsome six-foot hero, name unknown, saved the others. The boat was finally righted and bailed out, but it required an extraordinary amount of labor for a bevy of high school mermaids.

John Duckworth, radio announcer at Inglewood station KMIC, and Miss Bernadine Darnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Darnell, were married recently. The romance had its inception when the bride went to the station to accompany her sister, a singer, on the piano. The couple will reside in Inglewood.

Emmett Pike and Dorothy Glenn, both members of the 1924 class, were married by the Rev. E. J. Statom. They will make their home at Fullerton.

Lyman J. Barnes and Miss Lola Lilley were married recently at Chula Vista, where they will make their home. Mrs. Barnes graduated with the class of 1925 and for a time was employed in the high school office.

Marion Wood, Georgene Von Detum and Olaf Hansen will represent Fullerton high school in the annual Ojai tournament. The matches will be played April 28, 29 and 30.

GIRLS PLAN TEA TO HONOR MOTHERS

BY RUTH ANDRES

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Mothers of the Garden Grove high school girls will be honored by a tea to be given April 29 at the home of Mrs. Fred Andres. The mothers' tea is an annual event given by the members of Girls League. Dainty favors of pastel crepe paper are being made by Ruth Ryan and her committee. The April shower idea will be carried out in the decorations and favors.

Lillian Munz with the help of a committee is planning the decorations. A very delightful program is being planned by Ruth Fitz and committee. Several of the talented student body members will take part in the program.

Appetizing refreshments will be served by Ruth Andres. Myra Bragg will see that all mothers who have no way to attend will be furnished transportation. Invitations to the affair have been sent out by Anne Phillips and her committee.

The girls are expecting to entertain about 170 including both the mothers and the girls.

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Weaving looms have been installed at Tustin union high school this year and even the boys have enrolled for instruction in the class. Tustin union high school is the latest school to add instruction in weaving to the courses offered in the curriculum.

Much intricate work has been accomplished by the students in the class according to Miss May Greenleaf, teacher.

The boys are not the least adept at the art, either, it is claimed. Three boys have enrolled. They are Robert Marshall, Robert Danksin and Martin Bowman. All of them declare that they like to shuttle the web back and forth while the varied colored designs in scarfs and other goods materialize. Robert Marshall completed the first piece of woven goods that was produced in the weaving class.

Many different kinds of goods are made, including rugs, scarfs, shawls and purses and clothing material.

Ruth Walter made goods for a coat. A pretty shawl was woven by Vivienne Wyne. Helen Evans even strung the web with a special pattern she wanted for a pillow.

There are 30 students in the weaving and art classes under the instruction of Miss Greenleaf. For the first year, the work produced with the four looms operated has been exceptional, it is said. Tustin is the fourth school of the county to install looms. The other schools are Anaheim, Santa Ana and Fullerton.

Boys Will Wear Light Suits On Sheepskin Night

BY HARVEY DURKEE
SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Graduating seniors of 1927 held their first meeting Tuesday, April 19, sixth period in the junior college lecture hall.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss various phases of the graduating problem, among which were selecting of the boy's suits.

After a lengthy discussion, during which white trousers and dark coats and dark suits were suggested, the boys concluded by choosing light suits. Any color can be worn, if it is light.

The class also chose colors and flowers. Blue and gold were chosen with sweet peas to furnish the mainstay of the decorating committee.

Decorating, class will, and class prophesy committees were also chosen.

Mr. Hammond concluded the meeting by giving a lengthy talk on the difference between a college and a university. He also stated that the big colleges do not count as heavily on one's first two years in high as the last two.

Mission chimes from Capistrano

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—There will be no graduating class at San Juan Capistrano high school this year, the few members of the senior class having left school. There are 12 members of the junior class, however, who will graduate next year.

The Orange county high school music memory contest will be held at San Juan Capistrano union high school Friday, April 29, beginning at 2 p. m. About 40 contestants, representing all the county high schools, will compete. Principal J. W. Means of Tustin union high school will preside.

A light opera will be given late in May by the students of the high

MAY FESTIVAL IS ANNOUNCED AT TUSTIN H. S.

Alma Condra Will Be Queen Of Old English Masque To Be Held In Outdoors

By VIRGINIA VIAU

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—A May festival, Friday night at 7:30, is to be Tustin's celebration of the arrival of Spring. The outdoor theater, at the back of the high school building, will furnish the setting for this festival, which is to be an old English Masque of the time of Chaucer, (in the fourteenth century) in the Village of Canterbury. This Masque is being directed by Mrs. Daly.

Included with the Masque will be Maypole, garland and court dances, and music by the orchestra and glee clubs. Miss Youm is directing the dances, while Miss Stephens is in charge of the music.

Aside from these group dances, there are to be two solo dances, one by Thelma Trickey, "the child wonder" from Irvine grammar school, and Charlotte Caldwell, a high school student. Alma Condra, Queen of the May, will be seated on the stage during the entire performance. She will be attended by court ladies, guards, a crown bearer (Thelma Trickey), a page, a herald (Curtiss Bowman), and a king, who as yet is unnamed.

The sewing and art departments have been working on the costumes to be used in the festival. Everyone is cordially invited to come to this festival, and receive a good entertainment free.

Grove Students Show Interest In Debate Work

BY TADASHI NASHIMORI

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Many students of Garden Grove union high school are entering class debate tryouts and interschool debate tryouts. The winners of the debate class tryouts will enter the final contest to be held at Huntington Beach May 13.

Reba-Nell Feemster, Sigurd Magnusson and Orville King were the winners of the freshmen preliminary tryout held April 8. Sigurd Magnusson won the final tryout, which was based upon readings from the "Christmas Carols" and was held last Thursday after school.

Evelyn Parks, John Mitchell, Grace Lee, Warren Van Pelt, Ruth Ryan and Martha Kelsey entered the final tryout for the sophomores held last Friday. The topic of the original speeches which they gave was "What is an Ideal Education?" Martha Kelsey won in the finals.

All juniors are to write an essay of at least 1500 words for the contest, before April 25. On the same day the seniors will give extemporaneous talks on some phases of conservation of natural resources.

The senior class has already selected Helen Knox and Ray Munz for the interclass debates while the other classes are now holding class debates to determine who will be their representatives. The freshmen will have their first tryout for their debates on April 25 and the next day the final contest determines the representative for their class.

The first interclass debates will be held in period A, May 3. The freshmen will meet the sophomores, and the seniors will compete with the juniors. The question for the freshmen and sophomore debate is "Resolved, that students should have charge of all club activities held during school hours."

The senior and junior debate question is, "Resolved, that next year the high school graduates should wear uniforms during school hours."

The winners of these debates will appear in the final debate to be staged in assembly, May 18.

LEADERSHIP IS SPEECH TOPIC AT G. G. SCHOOL

BY ELIZABETH LEHNHARDT

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—"Leadership" was the topic of a talk given in assembly Wednesday by Dick Carlson of the California College of Commerce at Long Beach.

"Leadership is the ability to influence people to think as you think, feel as you feel, and act as you would have them act," said Mr. Carlson. "You can develop the ability to influence people, if you first develop yourself in these factors."

"The power to think, power to remember, power to imagine, power to act; and vision, decision, reliability and endurance."

Mr. Carlson told several interesting stories about the first both-tub, first tall silk hat and other inventions, such as sewing machines and typewriters. The first bathtub was bought by a rich man who showed it to friends at a Christmas party, enthroning it in the parlor for the purpose. The first tall silk hat created quite a sensation when worn on the street by its proud owner. Women fainted, children screamed and ran and even the dogs barked at such a terrifying spectacle.

According to Mr. Carlson, some of the diseases of leadership are: a closed mind; we resist what we don't understand; feelings, acting the way we feel. If we don't feel like doing a thing we generally don't do it. A leader must have an open mind and go ahead and do things whether he feels like it or not with faith, confidence and courage.

PERFUME HISTORY TOLD STUDENTS

BY ELEANOR TURNER

SANTA ANA POLYTECHNIC HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Sketching the history of perfume from the time it was first used, 5000 B. C., to the present day, Robert Wilson, former graduate of Santa Ana high school, spoke before the science seminar last Wednesday at its regular meeting in Miss McCaffrey's room.

Wilson is in the perfume manufacturing business in Santa Ana. Contrary to the opinion of many, the use of perfume started 5000 years before the birth of Christ when it was used in offerings to deities, as an esthetic agent, and as an embalming fluid. Incense perfumed with pleasingly scented odors were burned continuously in the temple. No king or prince was considered to be worthy of his title until he had been anointed with perfumed oils. The modern era of cosmetic use was introduced with the Elizabethan period of history, Wilson says.

Perfumes find their source in vegetables, animal and chemicals. Different perfumes are taken from different parts of the plants.

To start the process of perfume manufacturing, synthetic oils and natural materials are put together and added to alcohol in four gallon quantities. This mixture is put into a container and shaken for 24 hours. Then it is filtered through paper, is poured into small bottles, corked, and distributed to all parts of the country.

FINAL AWARD OF PRIZES IN RACE DELAYED

Names of Victorious Writers Will Be Printed in Issue May 3; Cups Ready

It happens in the best of families, the Junior Register included. This issue was to carry the names of the contest winners, but as yet the editor has not received the list, and consequently, it cannot be printed.

Unforeseen delays have brought about the postponement of the announcement of the winners.

This issue, however, will conclude this year's Junior Register. The awards will be printed next Tuesday and copies of the paper sent to all journalism classes.

The cups are ready to be engraved when the names are certified, but just now, regrettable as the situation is, the names can't be released. The reason is that the winners have not been selected.

So just be patient, boys and girls of radioland and we shall see what what we shall see.

GIRL RESERVES PRESENT PROGRAM

BY MYRA BRAGG

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Friday morning the Girl Reserve presented before the Girls League "The Life of a Girl," featured in song. This stunt followed the business session and singing of Girl Reserve songs. The first step in the series of a girls life was featured by a freshman girl, Dorothy Allen who was carefully wheeled in a large baby carriage by her nurse Norma Cosner. The baby sang "Give Me My Bottle Now."

The second event was the girl at grammar school age. Three girls, dressed in children's costumes came in skipping ropes and sang "Come and Play With Me."

Representing the high school age, three girls in Girl Reserve costume, sang "I Want to be a Girl Reserve."

College age was the fourth act, portrayed by several "flappers" who sang a college song.

The wedding scene was very effective and natural. Hilda Mark, the bride and her three attendants tripped daintily to "Lohengrin." "I Love You Truly" was effectively sung by Lillian Warwick.

A washerwoman pictured the drudgery of married life which followed the wedding. This part was taken by Lucile Shackelford, who gave a planologue.

The scene of age was the last of the skit presented. A tottering aged pair came in and sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Margaret Day played the piano for each number on the skit, and Virginia Barnes gave a clever reading "Building of the Bridge." Myrtle Zeigler, president of the Girls Reserve, presided over this entertainment and Miss Culter, and Miss Hadden, advisors of the Girls Reserve, helped with the program.

MYSTERY NOISES HEARD AT TUSTIN

By LOUISE GRISET

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, April 26.—Dusk falls and the long corridors grow dim and silent. Unearthly shadows play weirdly in obscure corners.

Not a person can be seen, nor a sound heard.

Suddenly, Bang! Bang! Bang! distinctly breaks the silence. Bang! Bang! Bang! again sounds and fades into oblivion.

"Spooks," thinks a late student as he slips cautiously toward the stairs.

Abruptly at his side comes, with sharpness, Bang! Bang! Bang! Always three times. It gets on his nerves, but not believing in spooks he determines to solve the mystery.

It seems to come from a locker near the door to the journalism room.

The student opens the locker, but the spook is not there and all is quiet and innocently peaceful.

The student gives up and proceeds on his way homeward with that uncanny Bang! Bang! Bang! again echoing down the halls.

What is it that disturbs the peace of Tustin high school?

A reward will be given the person who solves the mystery.

Come in today and look at the exhibit in our window. It is just cans. To the person who makes the nearest correct guess as to the number of cans, we will give $50.00 worth of canned goods. To the next 19 nearest guessers we will give a $25 credit on any used car in the store.

All of our used cars are plainly marked with a price tag and the year model. Moreover, every car is exactly as represented by our salesmen.

We stand back of our merchandise.

Billy Evans Says

STAR'S VALUE TO TEAM

If "Daisy" Vance has a good year, it means much to my young ball club," remarked Manager Wilbert Robinson of Brooklyn to me during the spring training trip.

"Vance had a poor season in 1926, winning only nine games and losing 10. It's a tough break for a ball club to have the outstanding pitcher of the league show so poorly."

"Ball clubs in a measure are all affected by the play of their star. Let Ruth slump at the bat and the Yankees suffer. When Johnson isn't winning, the Washington club wobbles. In a like manner, Brooklyn missed Vance's winning ways last year."

"The two previous seasons he had won 28 and 22 ball games, which are a lot for a manager to count on. If Vance can pull a comeback, get going again for me, it will bolster the confidence of the entire club."

Remembering Robinson's comment in the south, it struck me that Vance's first start, must have been mighty disappointing.

VANCE'S POOR DEBUT

Working in the first series of the year against the Boston Braves, Vance was touched for seven runs and nine hits in six innings. He retired in the seventh for a pinch hitter.

During his stay on the rubber, Vance struck out only two men, an indication that he didn't have the usual stuff on his fast ball.

Can it be that the great "Daisy" has passed the peak of his game? The experts in the National league circles seemed to be of that opinion last year when Vance failed to strike his real stride at any time during the season.

True, Vance is 34 years of age and a majority of pitchers are through at that stage of life. However, Walter Johnson and Grover Cleveland Alexander are still pretty fair twirlers and they have hit the 40 mark.

In a sense, the uncertainty that shrouds Vance's status after only six years in the majors, is a striking tribute to the two remarkable perennial performers, Johnson and Alexander.

TOO MUCH CURVE BALL

When Vance was going at top speed in 1924, winning 23 games while he dropped but six contests, it was often contended that he was faster than Walter Johnson.

I have worked back of both pitchers, and while Vance surely had plenty of stuff on the ball, if you are willing to take my word for it, Johnson, when in his prime, back, say about 1912, had considerable more "swift," as Nick Altrock would put it.

Vance developed a better curve than Johnson. He delivered his curve ball with great speed and it was almost unhittable. Incidentally, I always thought he used it to excess. I am inclined to think that too much curve ball has taken much out of Vance's arm.

There is no denying that the curve ball exacts its toll. Any pitcher who has made much use of it during his career will swear to that statement.

Johnson, starting his 21st year, and Alexander his 17th campaign, are apparently no nearer through than Vance in his sixth year.

In justice to Vance, however, it should be stated that he made his major league debut at 30, while Alexander was 24 and Johnson only 20. What does the future hold for Vance and Brooklyn?

INVADES OJAI

THELMA PATTON

One of Santa Ana's most talented women tennis players, Miss Thelma Patton, daughter of and Mrs. M. A. Patton, will participate in the annual Ojai valley All-California tournament which opens Thursday. Miss Patton will represent the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, junior division, at Ojai. She is a student at Santa Ana junior college.

SANTA ANA NET PLAYERS ENTER OJAI TOURNEY

Miss Thelma Patton, all-around athletic luminary of Santa Ana junior college, will leave tomorrow for Ojai where she will represent this city in the annual Ojai valley All-California tennis tournament which gets under way Thursday morning.

Six players from Frances E. Willard junior high school also will invade the Ojai tennis sanctum under the leadership of their coach, Miss Della Franzen. Miss Patton will be sent to the tourney by the local chamber of commerce, junior division. She is playing the best tennis of her career at present and should go far in the annual net classic. Last year she went to the semi-finals before she was eliminated.

The Willard delegation will include twin sisters, Mamie Sue Hill and Minnie Lou Hill. Barbara Rurup and her twin sister, Louise, also are tennis players but Miss Louise will not make the trip. Frances Willard boy players entered are Elwood Lindley, singles, and Hideo Higashi and Russell Gundrum, doubles. The team will leave Friday.

This sextette will compete in the grammar school tournament and has a good chance to win, it is believed. The team made a splendid showing against Fullerton junior high school in a tournament yesterday. Lindley beat Waters, Fullerton, 6-1, 6-1, and Higashi and Gundrum tied Crooke and Waters, 6-4, 9-11. Barbara Rurup was defeated by Thelma Stewart, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5. Mamie Sue and Minnie Lou Hill defeated Anabeth Trowbridge and Isabelle Garoon, 6-4, 6-2.

Julia C. Lathrop junior high school intended to send a small representation but abandoned this plan later. Several junior college experts who contemplated an invasion also gave up the thought.

Dusky Boxers In L. A. Go Tonight

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Two dusky atoms from opposite sides of the earth will meet tonight in a hempen square at the Olympic here in a battle that may determine the future featherweight championship of the universe.

The battlers are Santiago Zorrilla, Panamanian, and Pete Sarmiento, Filipino, who are billed for 10 rounds to headline the weekly fistfight card.

YANKEES, BUGS LOOK LIKE BIG LEAGUE CHAMPS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 26.—Pittsburgh's speeding Pirates and the fast moving New York Yankees are playing the best ball in the major leagues and are showing enough class to make them favorites to win the championship.

The Pirates won seven of their ten games and the Yankees eight of their first eleven, and the two clubs have been meeting real opposition.

The Yankees fattened up on three games against the lowly Boston Red Sox. It is true, but they also knocked off the Philadelphia Athletics in four games and the Athletics certainly cannot be rated as a pushover.

Pittsburgh started against the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago Cubs and took five games away from the Reds and two from the Cubs.

The Reds, so far, are the biggest disappointment of the year. They were considered seriously as a pennant contender on account of a pitching staff that looked like one of the strongest in the big leagues.

The loss of Eddie Roush in center field was admitted to be serious but many of the critics, knowing Roush wasn't on the best terms with the management and the players, figured that George Kelly would be a more valuable playthan Roush. Kelly then turned up with some physical disabilities and Hugh Critz held out so long that the team couldn't get away in step.

The St. Louis Cards are moving along much better than their former manager, Rogers Hornsby, believed they would. The Cards are a good ball club, of course, and they are getting the best pitching in the big leagues. Old Alex, the big ace, hasn't been a sensation this season but Haines and Sherdel are pitching the best ball of their careers.

Considering the quality of the opposition they have been facing, the New York Giants are doing none too well.

Every indoor baseball enthusiast in Santa Ana, man or boy, fan or player, today were urged to attend the mass meeting in the council room in the city hall at 7 o'clock tonight at which plans for this year's leagues will be thrashed out.

The gathering will be strictly an open one and will be thrown open for general discussions to the best ways and means of conducting the sport through this and coming seasons.

Santa Ana's first game will be played Friday, May 13, an Orange County league contest with Huntington Beach at Lincoln park.

STUDENT EDITOR URGES CARD ATHLETIC BREAK WITH TROY

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 26.—A break in athletic relations between Stanford and the University of Southern California is urged in an editorial appearing in the student newspaper here, the Daily Palo Alto, in which the editor, Wilbur F. Adams, charges that universal "dirty" tactics are used by the southern teams.

The editorial says: "Stanford should eliminate Southern California from its list of opponents because of the poor sportsmanship they display. Poor sportsmanship is a mild name for the deliberate 'dirty' running of several of the U. S. C. men last Saturday."

LETTER MEN TO REORGANIZE AT MEET TONIGHT

Reorganization of the Lettermen's club at the Santa Ana high school is to be effected tonight when the Poly athletes meet at 5:30 o'clock for a banquet in the school cafeteria at the call of Coach Gerald ("Tex") Oliver.

Committee reports will be heard and definite action taken looking toward enlarging the activities of the monogram wearers.

The Lettermen's club, it is claimed, has been little more than an honorary club in the past. With the purpose in mind of promoting activities in the interest of the school, the steps in reorganization were taken. The club intends to undertake a program of entertaining visiting athletes, sponsoring athletic events and encouraging participation in sports.

Seven committees will make reports. The committees are: Membership—Melvin Beatty, Guy Harvey and Eric Twist; emblems—Jack Blakeney and Manley Moffatt; initiation and inauguration—Charles Ehrhorn; finances—Orville Schuchardt, Julius Borden and Bomo Koral; Judson Riley; ritual—Stanley Norton, Hubert Prior, Lawrence Hogue, Judson Riley, Harold Breeding; meetings—Harvey Bear, John Moffat, Ernest Velarde.

Trojans Silent on EDITORIAL CHARGES

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—University of Southern California officials today declined to answer the editorial appearing in a Stanford university student newspaper urging that athletic relations between the two institutions be severed.

Prof. Hugh Willett, chairman of the faculty athletic committee and also head of the general athletic committee of the Trojan institution, was given the quoted editorial by a United Press representative and said:

"Inasmuch as the charges are merely editorial comment and not a protest lodged by Stanford university officials, no action in drafting an answer will be made."

When questioned as to the merit of the alleged charges, Prof. Willett declined to comment, reaffirming the attitude held by officials at the Trojan institution.

'Bud' Spencer Is Card Track Pilot

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, April 26.—Emerson L. ("Bud") Spencer, star quarter miler of Stanford's great track team, was unanimously elected to captain the Card track team in 1928. Spencer's home is in Modesto, Calif.

One of the most serious troubles caused the railroads by vagrants is that resulting from the theft of the oily-fiber packing around car axles. Tramps use the material for building fires.

ford men were foully elbowed and "roughed" by the southerners. A runner who disgraces himself in such an exhibit should be prohibited from ever running another race.

"U. S. C.'s spirit has been demonstrated to Stanford before. In the last basketball game this season the Trojan captain was asked to leave the floor. Other cage matches were the same. The less said about football the better for U. S. C."

"Stanford should refuse to play the Trojans and keep sports on the coast on the right basis."

ANOTHER MARATHON NOTHING TO CLARENCE

Clarence De Mar goes right on winning marathons just like he was 20 and not 38. Here you see his smile of victory flashing across the finish line of the Boston Athletic association's Hopkinson-to-Boston run, which De Mar has now won five times. His time for the 26 miles was 2 hours, 40 minutes, 22 and 1-5 seconds. At right is the field of 194 at the start.

FAVOR EX-H.B. STAR TO TAKE BIG DECATHLON

A lad who used to carry the colors of Huntington Beach high school into track and field competition will be the center attraction at the biggest and best and the greatest of them all—the thirty-third annual University of Pennsylvania Relay carnival at Philadelphia Friday and Saturday.

He is a minister, the Rev. Virgil Elliott, pastor of a church at Bethany, West Va., who is also studying theology at Bethany Seminary.

Elliott is quite generally expected to win the decathlon, a colorful 10-event grind which annually attracts the most famous of America's track and field "iron men." The Huntington Beach athlete finished third last season behind Tony Planksky, of Georgetown, and Huntzman of Earlham, neither of whom will be eligible this year.

Nine other tries, however, make Elliott's task look difficult. Dick Sturtridge, of De Pauw, was fifth in 1926 and he will be a competitor. Other noted decathlon stars entered are Boskin, Alabama; Stratton, Pennsylvania; Welsh, Pittsburgh; Kennedy, Missouri; and Kendall, Bowdoin.

The presence of Lord Burghley and his Cambridge cohorts from old England and Delta College institute of Canada, lend an international flavor to the Penn relay this year, while the added sprint attractions that will feature Roland Locke, Jackson Scholz and Henry Russell has also drawn a large number of participants.

Altogether about 500 schools and colleges will send several hundred athletes to compete for the trophies.

Trojans To Meet Japanese College

LOS ANGELES, April 26.—Coach Sam Crawford's U. S. C. Trojan baseballers will meet the Waseda university team of Japan in games here Friday and Saturday of this week.

The team from the flowery kingdom sa in addition to its reputation for speedily play, an array of hitters that should stack up well against the Trojans.

Election of the 1928 Trojan captain will be delayed until after the second game with Waseda.

In the United States during 1925 there was one divorce for every 7.2 marriages.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

American sport, probably as much as any section of our national life, owes a big debt to the men nobody knows, says J. C. Kofoid, nationally known sports writer, who in the April issue of The Elks Magazine pays a glowing tribute to six figures whose hands have guided champions while they themselves have never been touched by the spotlight of fame.

Champion of champion makers, says Kofoid, is Stewart Maiden, whose name is hardly known outside of his own Atlanta and who is never entered in competitive golfing lists—but who has been responsible for their earliest days for the development of Bobby Jones, Watts Gunn, Alex Sterling Fraser and Perry Adair.

To Keene Fitzpatrick, athletic trainer at Princeton, who receives only rare mention in the football news, Kofoid gives credit for a big part of the Tigers' gridiron success.

"Fitzpatrick is not content with keeping his boys fit during the football season," he says. "He is after them during the balance of the collegiate year, and when they go off on summer vacations they carry dietary lists and instructions from him. The trainer writes to them, checks them up, encourages them while they are away."

Consequently, Princeton gridiron candidates come back to college in good condition. There is a precious week or two saved—a week or two that other coaches must give to hardening their men."

Few sport fans ever heard of George Conway, ventures Kofoid. But Conway, the unknown, was the trainer whose delicate handling made Man o' War into the greatest of race horses, while the jockeys received the plaudits of the crowd.

Another shadowy figure today is Ira Thomas, old catcher and now coach of the Athletics, who is credited by those who know with "making" Lefty Groves, says the Elks Magazine articles. And in pugilism there were Tom O'Rourke who literally drove George Dixon into the featherweight championship, and Walter Watson, mediocre boxing master, who developed Jim Corbett solely for the purpose of using him as a weapon to pay off a boxing grudge.

WILLARD NINTH GRADERS LOSE; EIGHTHERS WIN

BY BURDETTE HEINLY

Frances E. Willard junior high school's baseball team was defeated by the Huntington Beach high school second team, 7 to 6, in a game yesterday that was similar to the Orange tiff a week ago. Huntington Beach made its rally in the unlucky seventh canto by making enough runs to tie the Willard score, Parker driving the ball to the water works in the last turn with the bases full.

While the ninth grade team thus was being defeated the eighth graders pulled up a heavy grade and won out over the El Modena players, 6 to 5. The Willard "Little Men" drove two homers to the orange trees back of the school. These were made by Bows and Beach.

Willard Ninths Huntington Bch. Johnson, Beaver, P. Greer, Quinlan, C. McDowell, Beaver, Johnson, B. Griford Hall, C. B. Whitten, Mullins, Cummings, J. B. Johns, Rutledge, S. S. Oliver, Smith, L. F. West, Whitman, Thornhill, C. P. Anderson, Gross, Garth, R. F. Parker.

ROWBOAT RACES TO CATALINA PLANNED

LONG BEACH, April 26.—The lowly rowboat comes into its own on June 12 when a marathon for that type of craft will be held across the 30-mile stretch of water between this city and Catalina Island.

Under present plans the boatmen will shove off from the strand here shortly after noon on the above date, and barring unusually heavy seas, should negotiate the crossing in from seven to eight hours.

Entry events for the race can be procured from Squire F. Duree, superintendent of recreation, Long Beach.

BREEDING ILL: MAY NOT RACE NEXT SATURDAY

Crack Distance Negotiator Is Down with Flu; Bear Has Tough Assignment

Santa Ana high school's forlorn hope of finishing among the first three in the Southern California Inter-scholastic track and field meet finals at the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday afternoon staggered today from the impact of the most severe blow it has taken all season.

Harold Breeding, the school's crack distance negotiator and the outstanding miler in Santa Ana athletic history, was confined to bed with an attack of flu and it was problematical whether he would be in shape to toe the starting line.

Even if the gifted runner is able to don his suit and make a bid for a place it is doubtful whether he will be in any kind of condition to combat a field composed of such remarkable mile runners as Don Hall of Long Beach, Al Storms of Hollywood, Martin of China and Earl Callahan of Manual Arts.

Flu Exacts Toll

In his finest fettle, Breeding would have to run 4:30, or better, to take the measure of this fine field and while there are few who disbelieve his ability to turn such a trick, an attack of flu is virtually certain to exact its toll and leave him terribly handicapped for a race which demands every ounce of strength.

Breeding attended his classes yesterday but went home in the afternoon suffering from a severe headache. His fever, it was reported, was 103 today.

Coach "Tex" Oliver said today that he would not allow Breeding to run at all if physicians indicate that the results might be injurious.

"We need Breeding's points badly," Oliver said, "but we are not going to use him if he might suffer any after-effects whatever. We do not need points as badly as Breeding will need his health."

Other Poly eligibles are in Al condition and thirsting for competition but Coach Oliver has instructed all his men to take things easy. They had their strenuous practice last week.

Captain Harvey Bear has a tough assignment on his hands in the 220. At first it was believed that he had only to beat Frank Wykoff, the fleet Glendale boy, but now it appears that Russ Slocum, Wykoff's teammate, has made such improvement in the 220 that Bear will have to lick him as well.

Bear had little difficulty disposing of Slocum in the Coast Preparatory league meet, Wykoff being his closest competitor but Slocum's 21 3-5 seconds race at the Co liseum last Saturday, for a new Southern California prep record, would indicate that Slocum will be thereabouts at the finish line.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY

SUIT SEEN IN FIRM'S CLAIM ON TIDELANDS

NEWPORT BEACH, April 26.—Possibility of a law suit between the city and the Realty Investigation syndicate, aggrieved owners of tidelands in the city channel of Newport bay, loomed last night when City Attorney Clyde Bishop was given permission by city trustees to write the syndicate informing it that the city regarded the property claimed by it as city property.

The syndicate recently petitioned the city for permission to make improvements to the property, including the filling in and construction of a bulkhead around the property. The petition was referred to the city attorney, who declared that he believed there was a doubt as to the legality of the real estate group title to the property.

City Attorney Bishop's report showed that the state law provided that tidelands within two miles of an incorporated city cannot be granted to any firm or individual. His report also showed that the owners of the Realty Investigation syndicate made application for the tidelands before the city was incorporated and that the syndicate paid $12.26 for the property before the city was incorporated, but that the grant was not officially made until several months after the city of Newport Beach was incorporated. Bishop said that the actual granting of the land was illegal, and that the property belongs to the city under a recent bill enacted by the state governing bodies granting all the tidelands within the city limits to the city of Newport Beach.

City trustees last night authorized the serving of a notice on the Laguna Beach water district and on the Irvine company regarding water in the Santa Ana coastal plain, the source of the Newport Beach water supply.

City Attorney Bishop introduced the matter. The notice read to the effect that Newport Beach was entitled to 3000 miners' inches of water from its plants in the Santa Ana river bottom and warned the Laguna Beach district and the Irvine company against regaining water in the plain which would cause Newport Beach's water supply to decrease.

Hall Bids Rejected
All bids on the fire hall were rejected last night by city trustees, who determined to construct the buildings by day labor. The fire hall bids were held up for one week, pending investigation of the cost of renting a place for the engine. The committee in charge last night declared that the rent would more than consume the money necessary to build a temporary fire hall.

The fire committee also recommended the removal of the small fire engine to Balboa Island, the employment of another engine man to be in charge of the small engine, and that the city engineer, who was at Del Mar. The recommendations were approved by the board of trustees.

Plan Parking Pier
Plans for a parking pier, to be constructed at the foot of Palm street, were submitted to trustees by H. B. Tudor, local business man. Tudor declared that parking problems were confronting the city of Newport Beach, especially in the Balboa section and that he believed a parking pier, of permanent construction would do much to relieve the matter. Trustees took the suggestion under consideration.

City Attorney Bishop was instructed to draw a city ordinance prohibiting the promiscuous distribution of advertising circulars and hand bills to houses in the city. The city attorney was given the instructions following the reading of a communication from Norman Robotham.

A license to operate a bath house was issued to J. R. McKay. The bath house is to be located on Twenty-first place in Newport Beach. An application to conduct a fish smoking, pickling and salting business in the Newport Packing company's fish cannery was referred to the police commission for investigation by city trustees. The application was made by J. M. Gosman, according to reports.

An application for a position on the police department was made by M. R. Durban. The application was referred to the police commission and the chief of police.

Seeker Fire Job
Paul Clark, who was some time ago suggested as fire chief, filed an application with the board of city trustees for a position on the fire department when a vacancy occurs.

A communication was read from E. L. Howell, in which Howell asked the city to pay for windows which were broken in his business establishment. Howell contended in the letter that the street department scattered gravel on the street in front of his place of business, and that passing cars threw the rocks against the windows until several of the panes were broken.

Trustees will meet again next Monday night.

Laundry Tax Given Boost At Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, April 26.—The city license for laundries was last night raised from $15 per year to $200 per year by city trustees. The raise of the license was ordered deferred one week until other businesses can be investigated.

Recently a local laundry asked for an increase from $15 per year to $30 per month for the city license. Trustees held up the matter to investigate all other businesses, and received a protest signed by 240 business men.

It was reported last night that the increase in the laundry license was a protective measure for the laundries who remain here the year around. It was also suggested that a higher license be placed on vegetable hucksters, ice firms and cleaning establishments. A report is to be made to the trustees on the matter next Monday night, when the city attorney will be instructed to draw an amendment to the city license ordinance.

ANAHEIM INSTALLS IDENTITY BUREAU

ANAHEIM, April 26.—Chief J. S. Martin, with the approval of the city trustees, is installing a bureau of identification in the Anaheim police department, he announced today.

L. F. Barada, an expert in that work, has been selected to install and head the bureau, which will become effective May 1. The bureau will be patterned along the same lines as those in vogue in large cities and will be the first system to be adopted by any Orange county city. The sheriff's department has a similar system headed by Deputy Herman Zabel.

Included in the bureau will be fingerprinting, photographing, handwriting and crime indexing, Chief Martin stated. More can be accomplished in the detection of crime and the apprehension of criminals through such a bureau than through the employment of 10 additional men, according to Chief Martin.

The bureau will be of particular value in checking cases through the contact it will bring between the local department and the detective squad for eight years, transferring to the identification bureau, where he spent five years before leaving to install his system in other police departments. Barada has just recently returned from installing his system for the Nevada state department.

Hold Funeral Of Accident Victim

FULLERTON, April 26.—Funeral services were conducted this morning for the McAlay-Sutars funeral parlor by Byron Boyd, 19, who passed away at his home at 337 East Amerigo avenue, Sunday morning.

Boyd died from an accident sustained last Thursday at his work in Placentia, when he fell 10 feet from a roof on which he was working. As he fell he plunged his arm in a bucket of boiling hot water, and as a result of the burns, the fall and pneumonia which set in, he died.

Surviving him are his father, Lemuel Boyd; a sister, Pauline Boyd; two brothers, Roy and James, and a baby sister, Norma Lou. His mother passed away a few weeks ago in the east.

Two local ministers, the Rev. S. Fraser Langford and the Rev. George Tinsley, officiated at the funeral. Interment was at Loma Vista cemetery.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO
SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, April 26.—Mrs. J. S. Malcolm and daughters, Barbara, Mary Emma and Marjorie, returned Sunday evening from Los Angeles, where they were quarantined at the home of Mrs. Malcolm's parents, Dr. and Mrs. George E. Bovard, while Marjorie had diphtheria.

Miss Elsie Armitage and a friend visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hankey Sunday evening.

500 WOMEN AT CATHOLIC MEET IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, April 26.—Approximately 500 women are in attendance today at the St. Mary's Catholic church, where the Council of Catholic Women, diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego, is holding its quarterly meeting.

The Rt. Rev. J. J. Cantwell, bishop of the diocese, was present and delivered the luncheon address. Miss Kate E. Desmond, diocesan president from Los Angeles, also is present, having visited the last two days at the home of Mrs. A. E. Rothman, Orange county president and who had charge of luncheon reservations.

Luncheon was served at 11 o'clock at the school adjoining the church. Greetings were extended to the delegates by the Rev. Mortimer Murphy, Mayor H. H. Crooke, Dale R. King, president of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, and also by Ray B. Leach, secretary of the chamber.

In the afternoon session, which commenced at 2 o'clock, with Miss Desmond, in charge, prayer was offered, musical numbers were rendered and routine business was handled, which consisted of the treasurer's report by Mrs. Charles P. O'Brien and the membership report by Mrs. Fred A. Kellogg.

One of the principal addresses of the afternoon was made by Dr. Elizabeth Sullivan, of the University of California, speaking on "Some Causes Underlying Success and Failure."

Anaheim Man to Drill For Oil In India Fields

ANAHEIM, April 26.—G. E. Holmes, well known Anaheim oil man living at 1118 West Center street, is to try drilling for oil in far away India.

Holmes announces that he has signed a contract with the Burma Oil company, an English concern, for three years service in the Indian oil fields and that he plans to leave Wednesday afternoon on the long journey to the scene of his new endeavor.

The local man is to make the trip with three Long Beach drillers, the party taking the "Chief" Wednesday afternoon for New York, from which point they will take ship for London. In London they will meet with company officials and then continue on their journey to the India fields.

The possibility of his family following him in about eight months, if living conditions in India are found suitable, was revealed by Mr. Holmes this morning.

PLAN STRICT BUILDING LAW IN BEACH CITY

The ordinance established new fire zones, and set building restrictions in every part of the city. It also provides safety measures for apartment houses and business buildings.

Several members of the board of trustees declared they believed the ordinance too strict. Others declared that if the city is ever to build up with permanent structures and not shacks, the ordinance should be allowed to remain strict.

The ordinance was placed in the hands of the fire committee and the planning commission for investigation. It is expected that some revision will be made regarding the boundaries of various districts, but little change is expected in the building restriction section of the ordinance.

NEWS FROM ORANGE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

COUNTY FRUIT EXCHANGE WILL SHIP 80 CARS

ORANGE, April 26.—Citrus packing houses affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange will pack approximately 80 cars of fruit in this, the first week of operation in the 1927 season, according to estimates made today by exchange officials. Many of the houses will not pack more than a few cars toward the end of the week, devoting the first part of the week to picking fruit.

As the season advances a greater weekly shipment will be made until at the peak of the season's operations the shipments may climb to 1500 cars a week.

Independent houses have been in operation for several days. The exchange plans will hardly approximate 75 per cent of the crop while independents and plants affiliated with other associations will care for the remaining 25 per cent.

Estimates of the crop for 1927 made by citrus officials indicate that the bumper crop of 1926 will be equalled if not surpassed. With little frost damage and heavy rains, the outlook is for heavy shipments.

The crop of 1926 exceeded $10,500,000. The 10 plants affiliated with the exchange were responsible for $5,550,000 of that amount.

The exchange houses now officially under way include the Santiago Orange Growers' association, this city; Red Fox Orchards, this city; McPherson Heights Citrus association, McPherson; Olive Heights Citrus association, Olive; Villa Park Orchards, Villa Park; David Hewes Lemon and Orange association, Hewes Park; Golden West Citrus association, Tustin; Tustin Hills Citrus association, Tustin; Frances Citrus association, Irvine, and the Garden Grove Citrus association, Garden Grove.
